Anecdotes, Personalities and Comments,

CONCERNING

STAGE FOLK and Sometimes OTHERS

BY JOSEPHINE GRO.

The transition of Corbett the pugilist to Corbett the thespian is an accomplished fact, evidenced by his success in the field of the latter. The work of his effective fists, guided by a quick brain and backed by physical development in his earlier career, is now superseded by work that still keeps him in the eye of the public, but of a different character, where mental capability is necessary. He possessed the latter always, but only in the past few years has he cultivated it. "Gentleman Jim" he was in his fighting days, and the title is more than ever his in his theatrical life.

A proof that he is not deeply interested these days in his former work was shown a short time ago, when, with a fine opportunity to witness a very interesting "event" in the West, he preferred to spend the evening at the home of some old time friends.

A newspaper man, standing at the back row of the gallery at Keith & Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre at a performance during Corbett's recent engagement there, overheard a "gallery god" express his approval of the ex-fighter. The remark followed a big burst of applause brought out by some part of Corbett's performance.

"Gee, Cull," exclaimed the boy to his companion, "but dat bo is a good p'former. He's de feller dat give Sullivan a belt in de solar dat made Sull give up de belt to him."

Bothwell Browne, as a teacher of dancing in all its intricacies, has developed into one of the most wonderful performers in his line of artistic work that has appeared before vaudeville or other audiences. Of all claims to priority in the Salome barefooted dance his appears to be the most valid. For, in an impersonation of this Oriental character, he danced sockless before audiences many months before any other barefooted Salome attempted the act. His dancing in skirts began when he was but sixteen years of age, at that time giving imitations of Loie Fuller in song and dance. His truly artistic work became so popular on the coast, and especially in San Francisco, that he was persuaded to give up stage work and form classes to impart his art to others. He was fortunate in this work, enrolling some hundreds of children from the best families of the city and suburbs. Possessing a kindly, magnetic personality, he always commanded the respect and ready co-operation of all his pupils, many hundreds during the year passing under his capable instruction in dancing and grace culture.

Such prominent people as Florence Roberts, Marie Wainwright, Nance O'Neil, Maude Fealey, White Whittlesey and others have received coaching in the art at his hands—and feet. Gertrude Hoffmann, the great Salome dancer, was one of Browne's most apt pupils. Mabel Gilman, now Mrs. Corey, and her sisters were taught by him, as was also Jean Mathis, of "Brewster's Millions" fame.

Browne's dancing school hall was unharmed at the time of the San Francisco earthquake, and he gave it up for a temporary "City Hall." The big frames of photographs of his prominent pupils were reversed on the walls at that troublous time and used for bulletin boards.

His three months' success in Europe recently decided him to continue on the vaudeville stage, where he produced "Cleopatra" and "The Stunning Grenadiers." He is at present winning praise for his "Gibson Girl" impersonations. Still in his early thirties, he creates the illusion on the stage of youthful feminine beauty, though this is nothing compared with the exquisite beauty, grace and originality of his dancing and posing, which to see is to wonder at.

Jessie Bonstelle, in Frederick Paulding's "The Great Question," recently seen at the Majestic Theatre, wears some beautiful and exquisitely refined gowns in her play. She dresses the character she portrays, Alicia, with fine taste, having selected what just such a girl as the one in the play would choose.

Miss Bonstelle's first act gown is a girlish creation worn at a garden party, light, beautiful and airy as the spirit of the young girl before the awful secret of her birth was disclosed. And, by the way, the dress material was a gift from an admirer who, when she presented it, said:

"Others give you roses that fade and die, but I want you to have some of my handwork that will last longer." The package contained hand painted white chiffon, enough for a full costume. This is made over a rose pink underdress of Empire mode. The painted garlands of soft pink roses and pale green leaves encircle the skirt in a broad design just above the hem. Two long panels of the same fall from shoulder to hem at the back of the filmy gown, while another forms the front width. The loose sleeves of painted chiffon extend to the elbow, where they are met by tight fitting undersleeves of tucked white net that end low on the wrist. The bodice, which is cut decollete, is filled in at the neck with tucked net, edged at the shoulder line with point duchesse lace of rare design. Above the edge of this is a tiny band of silk embroidered passementerie in pale pink rose design.

With this gown Miss Bonstelle wears a white Directoire hat faced with black velvet. The trimming of the hat is a large white shower plume and a single American Beauty rose of immense size.

Miss Bonstelle's second act gown worn at a reception is classic enough in design to have been taken from some old picture of a Venetian lady-in-waiting. This particular comparison is in the broad panels that extend from shoulder to hem both back and front of the gown, which is made of a thick, heavy quality of white silk crepe. These panels are embroidered heavily for a distance of about a yard from the hem, with white floss silk roses, the work of which is about half an inch deep, giving a beautiful richness to the work. All the space on the material between the roses and leaves is filled in with a sewn network of gold thread. The guimpe and sleeves are of white tucked gauze, gold threaded.

The fourth act gown, a home garment, worn by Miss Bonstelle, is pale pastel pink in color, Empire model, and made of French chiffon voile, draped over a white satin undergown. The lower part of the skirt is very full and falls in graceful, billowy folds, which lay along the floor. The yoke of the bodice is white chiffon, and higher up on the neck part it is finished with plain dotted white net. Two long ends of half inch wide pink velvet hang from the yoke to the knees, and these are finished at the ends with heavy gold tassels.

Illustrating what irrelevant thoughts may come to a player during his scenes is an incident related by Miss Bonstelle on coming off the stage the other evening. During preparation of the production the actress had spent much time and thought in getting the settings for her scenes, the one representing a colonial drawing room in particular. For this she had antique furniture, the real thing, and her especial pride was a magnificent chandelier of crystal prisms, such as graced the homes of only the wealthy in colonial days. A certain critic had been very hard on the play, tearing almost everything to bits, even the furniture. The intervention of a thought having nothing to do with the trying scene which she was enacting at the time, is a proof that an actor can talk of one thing in his work on the stage and think of another at one time. This mental expression, which was at such variance with the terrifically strained lines of her scene, where she was giving up her affianced husband because the one drop of negro blood in her veins was a bar to their marriage. At the moment she was repeating this climax line she happened to fix her eyes on the crystal chandelier, the handsomest of her purchases, and also at this critical instant came the thought into her sub-consciousness, "How glad I am that the critics didn't roast my chandelier."

The writer having heard of many such instances would like to hear a few more from those in the profession who have had similar amusing experiences.

Rose Eytinge to Have Benefit.

Rose Eytinge, who is now residing in Portland, Ore., has, through illness, become almost incapacitated for any regular work, and is now penniless. Her friends intend to give her a benefit, and managers of the Northwestern Theatrical Association, Heilig, Cort and Baker, as well as other managers of Portland, have volunteered to make it a success. Mr. Heilig has given the use of his theatre for Thursday afternoon, Nov. 10, when attractions from all the other theatres will appear.

Marguerite Clark with Hopper.

Marguerite Clark, who has long been associated with De Wolf Hopper, in musical productions, is to appear with that actor again, as Elviria, in "The Pied Piper." Later in the season she will be starred individually by the Shuberts, in "The Prince and the Pauper."

MRS. MARGARET VOELCKEL.

Rudolph Voelckel, of the firm of Voelckel & Nolan, proprietors and managers of the famous Black Patti Troubadours and the Dandy Dixie Minstrels, while at Thomasville, Ga., on Oct. 28, received a telegram from New York, containing the sad news of the death of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Voelckel, whose photograph appears above. Mr. Voelckel left for his home on the first train. The interment took place in their family plot at Lutheran Cemetery, on Oct. 31, and was attended by her four surviving sons, Frederick, Emil, Rudolph and August, together with a large gathering of her many friends and relatives. Her death came suddenly from heart failure, and she passed away quickly and peacefully, and almost without suffering. She was sixty-seven years of age, and always in perfect health until the present fatal attack. Her sons are recovering from the severe shock, and Mr. Voelckel left to rejoin the Black Patti Co., at Chattanooga, Tenn., on Nov. 7.

DAISY LLOYD,
In her song, "Won't You Come and Paddle?"

Thompson Music Co. Notes.

The popular song, "I Wish I Had a Girl," is being featured by Eddie Morton, the versatile character singer, and is more than making good. He is using it as a special feature under a spot-light. He is playing Keith's, Philadelphia, this week, being the hit of the show. It also is being featured by James F. McDonald, Harry Tighe, J. Francis Dooley, and many others. Their other song hit, "Will You Always Call Me Honey;" is being sung and featured by Frances Gibson, Estelle Gibson and Ruth Clark. Their ever popular and old reliable coon song hit, "Common Sense," is still being featured by "Jolly" Johnny Larkins, on the Wm. Morris time. They also publish "In the Good Old United States" and "Let's Play House."

Mrs. Fiske Produces "Salvation Nell."

Mrs. Fiske appeared as a scrubwoman in her new play, "Salvation Nell," a work by Edward Sheldon, which received its premiere at the Providence Opera House, Providence, R. I., evening of Thursday, Nov. 12.

Mrs. Fiske is said to have a strong emotional role in this piece, while Hope Latham, Mary Maddern and Holbrook Blinn play character parts cleverly. The play and company met with marked favor, and Harrison Grey Fiske won praise for his staging of the piece.

William Norris to Succeed Grossmith.

William Norris has been engaged by Chas. Frohman to succeed George Grossmith Jr., in "Fluffy Ruffles," because of the latter's return to London. R. C. Herz will resume his former role in "The Soul Kiss." Mr. Norris had recently replaced Herz in "The Soul Kiss."

Lillian Albertson to Rest.

Lillian Albertson, who originated and has played the leading feminine role in "Paid in Full," for a long time, has retired from the cast. She will go to California for a rest, and may go around the world before returning to play next season.

Actors' Society of America Benefit.

Through the courtesy of Messrs. W. A. Brady, Jos. R. Grismer and Leander S. Sire, the entire proceeds of the matinee of "A Gentleman from Mississippi," given Friday, Nov. 13, were donated to the Actors' Society of America. Thomas A. Wise, Douglas Fairbanks and the supporting company volunteered their services.

An overflowing house testified its appreciation by hearty approval at every opportunity.

Mr. Wise and Mr. Fairbanks were welcomed most heartily, and the entire course of the play was punctuated with applause.

Among the noted actors and actresses who showed their appreciation of a worthy cause by being present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Drew, Ethel Barrymore, Arthur Byron, Florence Nash, Frank McIntyre, Georgie Drew Mendum, Will T. Hodge, George Arliss, Blanche Bates and Clifton Crawford.

The following ladies and gentlemen acted as flower girls, programme girls and ushers: Louise Drew, Grace Heyer, May Naudain, Emma Janvier, Lucille La Verne, Berenice Yerance, Nellie Callahan, Fanny Marnoff, Josephine Sherwood, Helen Ware, Helen Singer, Marjorie Wood, Ether Lyons, Marion Little, Joseph Coyne, Fritz Williams, Frank McIntyre, Edmund Breese, Laurence Wheat, Roy Atwell, Morgan Coman, Earl Browne, Wallace Edinger, Jack Hazzard, Hassard Short, Edwin Nicander, William Courtleigh and Clifton Crawford

The officers of the society are to be congratulated on the success of the matinee, the proceeds of which amounted to about $1,100 The officers are: Thos. A. Wise, president; George Seybolt, secretary; Fanny Cannon, vice-president; George Meech, treasurer.

Robert T. Haines to Support Margaret Wycherly.

Robert T. Haines has been engaged for the company to support Margaret Wycherly in a new play by Bayard Veiller, entitled "Her Other Self."

ANI HILL,

Whose picture appears on the front page of this issue, was born in Bristol, Eng., and made her professional debut with the Circus Renz, in Berlin, Ger., appearing in the title role of the pantomime of "Cinderella." Later she joined her sister, Ino, and the team, Ani and Ino, was imported to this country by Gus Hill, for his New York Stars Vaudeville Co., as the feature. They presented a very clever aerial number, and met with success, which success they continued as long as they remained in partnership. The team finally separated, and Miss Hill devoted four years to doing a single aerial act, which won for her high praise and the reputation that, in her line, she had no superiors and few equals. Three years ago she purchased the entire stage outfit of the late Bessie Bonehill. This season Miss Hill is with the Vanity Fair Co., with which she is the feature, doing her trapeze specialty and also leading several numbers.

Opening of Literary and Dramatic Union.

The first invitation social of the Literary and Dramatic Union, of which Mrs. H. Herbert Knowles is president, was given at the studio of its founder, Irene Ackerman, 1947 Broadway, New York City, evening of Nov. 9, and judging by the crowded attendance and enthusiasm evinced, was an overwhelming success. Mrs. Knowles spoke a cheery greeting, explaining briefly the aim of the club to bring out latent talent, either for literary or dramatic purposes.

Under the direction of Irene Ackerman, a delightful programme was rendered, the players appearing at their best; Judge Thos. W. Pittman spoke a few words appropriate to the occasion, followed by John C. Clancey, prominently connected with The New York Herald, who dwelt entertainingly upon the merits of the club and its uses. The vocal part of the programme was ably given by Marie W. Spears, Marta Spears, Alice Ives, Gaetano Manno, Arthur Ritchie, Manuel Rivero, violin solo, ably executed by Arthur Wagner; recitations given by Amy Ames, Helene Magrath, Sally M. Cory, Little Theckla Phelan, and fancy dancing by little Florence Burns, the child dancer.

A social feature of the evening was the serving of tea and cakes, the table being presided over by Mrs. John W. Bartlett, assisted by some very pretty young ladies, among them Misses Marta Spears, Mary Stern and Elsie Gilbert, which made a fitting finale to an evening replete with pleasure, the only regret being the absence of the first vice president, Mrs. Katherine Carpender Fay, owing to serious illness.

Among the members of the club and guests: Mmes. M. McIntyre, C. J. Clancey, Benj. N. Scudder, Eugene Scudder, Esther Mermann, J. W. Bartlett, T. Phelan, E. Barnett, M. E. Kidd, A. Havilland, A. Ames, G. W. Ashley, S. J. Scherer, J. Lilly, A. Schierge, H. Livingston, M. M. Morford, K. G. Leard, Florence Hart Jerome, M. Jewett, R. L. Wolfe, Frank E. Woods, R. Winters, H. N. Hyneman, Frank Gray, Misses Marta Spears, Isobelle Duixher, Mary Stern, L. Ewen, C. de La Ware, Lucille Lennon, Ottalie Rappold, M. Riser, C. Ruiz, Helen Whitman, Helene Magrath, J. C. Wilder, Elsie Gilbert, Drs. K. A. Enlind, J. A. Meek, J. W. Bartlett, Wm. Mittendorf, H. G. Burke, Messrs. Manuel Rivero, G. Manno, Arthur Ritchie, A. Wagner, A. Havilland, A. J. Graeffe, A. B. Post, C. Post, J. W. Curtis, E. E. Greville, C. J. Clancey, J. Lilly, H. H. Knowles, J. Palmer Collins, F. E. Woods, E. Ewer, and many others.

Kirk & Allison Circuit Formed.

An organization known as the Kirk & Allison Circuit, has acquired the St. Clair Theatre, Greensburg, Pa., and will make the house the nucleus of a regular circuit, which will take in about twenty towns and small cities within a short distance of Pittsburg.

Thomas F. Kirk Jr., manager of the Nixon and Duquesne Theatres, Pittsburg, and Geo. R. Allison, treasurer of the Nixon Theatre, that city, formed the company.

Messrs. Kirk and Allison announce an innovation in their new circuit. To Greensburg, and later to several of the other towns in the circuit, the companies playing at the Nixon will be taken during the "odd" afternoons for a matinee. If a matinee is given at the Nixon on Wednesday, then Tuesday or Thursday will be selected.

When companies are playing a week of one-night stands ahead of their Pittsburg engagement they will be booked for regular engagements in the new circuits.

"The Merry-Go-Round" to Close.

Owing to the closing of "The Merry-Go-Round," in which Raymond Hitchcock is starring, Nov. 20, Klaw & Erlanger, to keep the Detroit Opera House open, will jump the firm's new production, "A Kentucky Boy," from Atlantic City, where the play opens Thursday, Nov. 19, to Detroit, to open Nov. 23. "A Kentucky Boy" will then return to Philadelphia, to open at the Broad Street Theatre, Nov. 30.

B. C. Whitney, of the Detroit Opera House, in whose interests the change of booking and long jump will be made by Klaw & Erlanger, writes that he is recovering from the effects of his recent automobile accident near French Lick, but that he had a close shave.

Columbia, 'Frisco, New Building.

The Columbia Theatre Co., of San Francisco, Cal., announced last week that it was ready to proceed with the building of the new theatre at the Southwest corner of Geary and Mason Streets. Melville Marx, manager, announced that a contract had been signed for the construction of the foundations of the building.

The building, which has been designed by Bliss & Faville, will cost about $300,000.

Stapleton Wins Suit Against La Shelle's Widow.

The suit brought by John Stapleton against Mrs. Joseph Hunt, who before her recent marriage was the widow of Kirk La Shelle, for the recovery of $25,000 for royalties which he alleged were due him for his collaboration with La Shelle in "Checkers" and "The Virginians," resulted last week in a verdict in favor of Stapleton for $8,000.

Dave Montgomery Buys City Residence.

Dave Montgomery, of Montgomery and Stone, last week purchased from Samuel Dalselmer, a four story house at No. 126 West Seventy-first Street, New York City. The comedian will reside there with his mother and sister.

Matinee in Honor of Genee.

In honor of Mlle. Adeline Genee a special matinee performance of "Little Nemo" will be given at the New Amsterdam Theatre Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 25. The curtain will rise at 1.30 o'clock sharp. No matinee of "The Soul Kiss" will be given at the Forrest Theatre, Philadelphia, on that day.

Bertha Galland to Put On New Play.

Bertha Galland will star under the management of the Shuberts this season. She will return to the stage in Philadelphia Christmas week, in a play, entitled "The Return of Eve," written by L. W. Dodd, a new American author.

Anna Held, in "Miss Innocence."

Anna Held will open an engagement at the New York Theatre in a new musical comedy, entitled "Miss Innocence," on Monday, Nov. 30.

OHIO.

Cincinnati.—That indescribable factor in success and prosperity, called "Confidence," has hit this old town. Several houses actually turned people away last week. "Follies of 1908" put up a new record for the Grand Opera House. The Olympic wasn't big enough to care for the crowds that flocked to see "The Girl of the Golden West," in stock.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE (Rainforth & Havlin, mgrs.)—"A Waltz Dream" Nov. 16-21. Last week, "Follies of 1908" did a record business. Nora Bayes was the bright particular star. Harry Watson, Mlle. Dazie and Arthur Deagon all made successes. "Polly of the Circus" 23.

LYRIC (Heuck Opera House Co., mgrs.)—"The Gay White Way" 15-21. Jeff De Angelis, Camille D'Arville and Emma Carus. Lew Dockstader's Minstrels spent a profitable week here. The new first part setting was capital. Neil O'Brien's "House of Rest" is a corking good sketch. Al. Jolson, a newcomer, made good with emphasis. Sam Bernard, 22, in "Nearly a Hero."

WALNUT STREET (Anderson & Ziegler, mgrs.)—George Sidney 15-21, in "Busy Izzy's Boodle." "The Virginian" was cordially received last week. W. S. Hart and Frank Campeau scored. Mabel Van Buren was the schoolmistress. Gus Edwards' "School Days" 22.

OLYMPIC (Geo. F. & Luella Forepaugh-Fish, mgrs.)—Forepaugh Stock Co. will present "The Christian" 15-21. "The Girl of the Golden West" was one of the most delightful dramatic treats of the season. Business was big. Ida Adair was great as the Girl, and the Sheriff Rance of Harry Fenwick was an illuminating success. Frank Sylvester also won honors. "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" 22.

COLUMBIA (Anderson & Ziegler, mgrs.)—Tschernoff's European novelty, with Hans, the musical pony, 15-21, with Fred Singer, Work and Ower, Four Casting Dunbars, Julia Kingsley and company, Hayes and Johnson, Leo Carillo, and Frederick Musical Trio.

HEUCK'S OPERA HOUSE (Heuck Opera House Co., mgrs.)—Lottie Williams 15-21, in "Tennessee Tess, Queen of the Moonshiners," "The End of the Trail" did well last week. "Young Buffalo" is due 22.

LYCEUM (Heuck Opera House Co., mgrs.)—"Molly Bawn" 15-21. Last week, splendid crowds enjoyed "The Phantom Detective." "Jane Eyre" arrives 22.

PEOPLE'S (Heuck Opera House Co., mgrs.)—The Tiger Lilies 15-21. Last week's engagement of Harry Williams' Imperial Burlesquers was most successful. Minnie Lee, a Cincinnati girl, has turned out to be a good soubrette. Ida Walling and the Sisters Beardsley made splendid impressions. The Fashion Plates 22.

STANDARD (R. K. Hynicka, mgr.)—Bowery Burlesquers 15-21. Big crowds put their O. K. on the Bon Ton Burlesquers last week. Frances Clare was the live wire of the whole show. Rawson and Clare's "Just Kids" got half a dozen encores. The acrobatic girls, Joy and Clayton, were pleasing. "Mi Reflexlone," a barefoot mirror dance, by La Minna and six girls, was a heated novelty. Vanity Fair is due 22.

NEW ROBINSON (S. E. Overpack, mgr.)—Vaudeville features are now made more prominent. The Casino Co. is doing the booking. The Zoyarras—Ed. and Ameta; Roach and Hart, the Montgomerys were on the new bill. "The Passion Play" pictures, given one day, drew record breaking crowds.

AUDITORIUM (Auditorium Theatre Co., directors).—The fourth administration of the season begins 15. Moving picture shows with four vaudeville acts.

MUSIC HALL.—The pops, directed by Herman Bellstedt, will be revived 22.

GOSSIP OF THE LOBBY.—George B. Cox went East on theatrical business.....Mary Conrey is to be soloist at the first concert of the Mozart Club, at the Odeon, Dec. 10. .....Arthur Brand, nephew of the late Michael Brand, has organized an orchestra class.....Wilhelm Kraupner's first conservatory recital occurs 23.....The Dramatic Art Society will put on Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara" at an early December matinee, at the Grand Opera House, with May Herbert, Arthur Welling, George Woelfel, Lillian Deremo, Margaret Bresnan, Howard Wysong, Ben Slater Lamaster, Walter Robison, Elsa Schnewind, Edward Sussdorf, Leland Merton, Elsa Eberhardt, Albert Hills, Danesi Matthews and John E. Bott in the cast.

Dayton.—At the Victoria (G. C. Miller, mgr.) week of Nov. 9 was devoted entirely to high class moving pictures and vaudeville. Stanley and Scanlon, Earl McClure, "Doblado" and Dooley Donovan as the special attractions. Lew Dockstader 16, Rogers Bros. 23, "The Waltz Dream" 24, 25; "Paid in Full" 26-28.

NATIONAL (Gil Burrous, mgr.)—"Graustark" drew capacity houses 5-7. "Lucky Jim" drew well 9-11. "Strongheart" 12-14, "The Sheriff from Angel Gulch" 16-18, "From Sing Sing to Liberty" 19-21.

LYRIC (Max Hurtig, mgr.)—The bill week of 9 drew well at every performance. For week of 16: Selma Braatz, Rose and Adams, Devlin and Elwood, Fred Zobedie, Steely and Edwards, W. E. Whittle, Willa Holt Wakefield and the Lyricscope.

AUDITORIUM (Grafton & Wheeler, mgrs.)—High class moving pictures and Clara Kuntz, ragtime player and singer, all week of 9-16.

CRYSTAL (Rothlieder & Schwalm, mgrs.)—This house will open about 25, with high class vaudeville and moving pictures. This is the old Grand Theatre, completely remodeled and renovated, and will be one of the best houses of this kind in the city. Rothlieder & Schwalm are Pittsburg amusement people, running a string of houses of this kind over the country, and they are in line to give nothing but the best.

FOR centuries the women of the Orient have been famous the world over for their extreme luxury and elegance in matters of dress, the general preference being for fabrics of a soft and delicate nature, such as Rough Silks.

THIS predilection for richer and daintier dress material has in the past few years been taken up by fashionable Paris, London and New York, where Rough Silks are now the reigning fabric. This season they are more in vogue than ever before.

Queen of All Rough Silks is

and it is plainly the best value to be obtained in this popular weave. Its rough individuality and high satiny sheen make it more than usually adaptable to the fashion requirements of the well-dressed woman.

La Tossa Silk comes 27 ins. wide, $1.25 a yard. The selvage is marked "La Tossa, a Suskana Silk." This is your guarantee of the genuine.

Write today for our new booklet on Suskana Silks. It will furnish you with a full line of samples and give you a great many valuable hints regarding the texture of silk and how to know and buy the best quality silks at a given price.

Orpheum Orthographs.

A European feature, "The Blessing," which makes its American debut here next month under Martin Beck's direction, consists of famous equilibrists and head and hand balances from Berlin. Their appearance in this country is confined to the theatres of the Orpheum and Western circuits, as they return at the expiration of twenty weeks to appear in the London Hippodrome.

The Rooney Sisters, now in the West, will return to Liverpool next April to appear as pantomimists in "Jack and Jill." It was written by Sir Robert Arthur, and the Rooney Sisters are the only American performers to appear in it.

When Franklyn Underwood plays Denver with his company, consisting of Frances Slosson and Geo. Bloomquest, he will produce a sketch, called "Dobb's Dilemma," written by A. C. Carson, resident manager of the Orpheum Theatre. Mr. Carson is one of the most popular managers in the West.

One of the most artistic and most-talked-of "living marble" creations in Europe, "Seldom's Venus," has been imported by Martin Beck, opening in Kansas City, Monday, Nov. 16. "Venus" is the central figure of a series of groups reproducing the world's best works in plastic art. Paul Seldom has an offering which is said to be distinct and startling.

Bertie Fowler and her merry monologue will not be seen nor heard on Broadway for some time, as she has signed a contract with Martin Beck, to open in Denver, for a tour of twenty-seven weeks.

Geo. W. Dunbar, of the Casting Dunbars, will celebrate his fortieth year of activity as a public performer next month. In December of 1868 Dunbar joined Dr. E. Bacconstow's Cosmopolitan Circus, a boat and wagon show that played along the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. The feature of this aggregation was "The Forty Horse Parade," which, in those days and in that territory, was a sensational affair. Every one connected with the enterprise, from Dr. Bacconstow himself to the bearded lady, had to drive a single horse, a tandem or a four-in-hand equipage.

Belle Davis and her agile pickaninnies have apparently struck the fancy of foreign music hall patrons, as the act has been booked one year ahead, following a postponement for that length of time of a contract held with Martin Beck for America.

Ollie Young and his dexterous brothers have been routed over the Orpheum circuit, opening Feb. 17, 1909.

Reports received from cities along the Orpheum circuit indicate that Martin Beck has discovered a new feature of unique interest in the hypnotic and telepathic exhibition given by Clivette, who designates his science as psycho-astralism.

Daisy Lloyd to Return to England.

Daisy Lloyd, the dainty English comedienne, has been obliged to refuse offers for extension of her American engagement. She will be obliged to sail in about two weeks for England, to start rehearsals for the principal girl's part in Mr. Chute's Christmas pantomime of "Aladdin," at the Prince's Theatre, Bristol, which is next to the Drury Lane, London, the best "panto" house in England.

Miss Lloyd greatly appreciates the kindness of the American managers, press and public.

Sisters De Faye Return.

The Sisters De Faye returned to New York last week, after a very successful tour of the principal halls of the European continent. They did not play Atlanta, last week, on account of late arrival, but open in Chicago, Nov. 16.

A Glance at Acts New to the Metropolis.

BY HANK.

"The Submarine."

Some strange things find their way to the vaudeville stage, but nothing more remarkable was ever shown upon it than the ghastly, creepy, loathsome sketch called "The Submarine," which Thomas W. Ryley produced at the Colonial last week. The piece is an adaptation from the French of E. H. Laumann and Paul Oliver, and it is said that Paris hailed it as a capital novelty, which is hardly a tribute to the taste of the playgoers of the French capital.

After witnessing it a full fledged attack of the horrors is hard to stave off, and the audiences last week, while impressed with the realism of the performance, showed in an unmistakable manner that they did not care for the piece. Vaudeville is not the place for a gruesome and tragic performance of this kind.

The first scene is the interior of a submarine boat, which is in command of a man who is addicted to the use of opium and other drugs. The boat descends to a good depth, and here occurs the best part of the performance, for the illusion is a splendid one, and the sinking is vividly shown. At a great depth something goes wrong with the apparatus of the gear, and the crew, temporarily cowed by the reckless and drug-crazed captain, turn into wild beasts as the fear of death overwhelms them, and they kill their commander. But they all die like rats in a trap, and the second scene shows a dock, with the funeral services of the dead crew in progress.

It required the rest of the bill to quiet, even in some measure, the nerves of the audience after this awful sketch, and it is safe to say that many people in the house had their afternoon or evening spoiled by it.

Frank Mills played the commander in a fervent and convincing manner, and he was given good aid by Schuyler Ladd, Joseph K. Whitmore, Eric Blind and Thos. F. Stuart. The sketch ran about twenty minutes, on the full stage.

Tuscany Troubadours.

The most recent of the new acts which are touring vaudeville under the protecting eye of the progressive Charles Lovenberg are the Tuscany Troubadours, a singing act of downright merit, which was shown in New York City at the Fifth Avenue last week. There are six people in the offering, three men and three women, and all are soloists of distinctive ability. The act had barely opened before the audience was made to realize that it was a singing novelty of a class rarely equaled in vaudeville, and the people in front then settled themselves back in their seats for an enjoyable quarter of an hour.

On Monday of last week the regular scenery for the act had not arrived, and the singers were placed at some disadvantage as a result, but their voices made such an instantaneous impression that the few shortcomings were not noticed, and applause soon placed the seal of success upon Mr. Lovenberg's nicely arranged offering. There were solos, duets, quartettes and sextettes, and all were worthy of the hearty approval they received.

The opening was a little dialogue that had very little value, the chief charm of which was its brevity. A change of costume from street clothes to troubadour apparel was made, but there was no flagging in interest once the vocal work was well under way. There was big applause for the entire act, which ran about twenty minutes, in one.

Juliet?

Ad Newburger introduced at the Lincoln Square last week the young woman whom he has been drilling for a long time in impersonations. He bills her as Juliet? hiding her real identity behind the question mark. She is a small, dark complexioned girl, and after an opening song introduces her various impersonations with a line or two of rhyme, making her quick changes right on the stage, and taking the various articles of wardrobe and wig disguises from a little negro who stands in front of her and partially hides her from the audience. This part of her act is not new, but it has never been done in New York by an impersonator, to the writer's knowledge.

Juliet? has a good singing voice, and she can imitate a number of stage favorites with great cleverness. Her Lauder bit was a revelation, for a woman, and as Vesta Victoria, singing "Queen of the Ju-Ju Isles," she was capital.

Her first impersonations were of Frances Starr, Connie Ediss, E. H. Sothern, in a brief talk as Lord Dundreary, and Georgia Caine, in "Miss Hook of Holland." All were very well done and earned a great deal of applause for her. The Vesta Victoria and the Harry Lauder were the "big ones" of her act, and they were enthusiastically received.

For an encore she gave a "talk between Mme. Nazimova and Ethel Barrymore," which quite captivated the audience. Juliet? is a success, beyond a doubt. Her act ran about twenty-two minutes, in one.

"A Bit of Instruction,"

Evelyn Greenleaf Sutherland wrote a little sketch, called "A Bit of Instruction," several years ago, which Henry Woodruff and his company revived last week at the Lincoln Square. Mr. Woodruff played this act a long time ago in vaudeville. It told of what a real hero Jack Despard, an actor, was, and of how ordinary the chap was who called upon Jack and endeavored to prevail upon the latter to have nothing to do with a certain impressionable girl who was smitten with the actor's charms.

Jack burns up, without opening it, a note from the girl in question, gives his caller, Morton Newbury, a lesson in the proper way to read Shakespeare, and then shows Newbury the picture of the actress that he (Jack) means to marry. Newbury then admits that he was once smitten with the actress, and Jack tells him that she showed him all of Newbury's "insulting letters." Newbury is properly humiliated, and soon leaves, while Jack sits before the fire and laughs at the way his caller read certain lines.

The piece has all the earmarks of a feminine author, with the usual inconsequential writing that one gets to expect from such a source. It proved fairly interesting, however, and the part in which the actor instructs his caller was very good.

Mr. Woodruff did some excellent work in it, and Jack Devereaux, as the novice in acting, carried out the character nicely. The act ran about twenty minutes, on the full stage.

Letter From the Great Raymond Co.

RIO DE JANEIRO, BRAZIL, Sept. 28.

"Once again we are in Rio de Janeiro, the metropolis of the largest country in South America. To say it is beautiful during this season but inadequately conveys an idea of its attractiveness.

"Nature certainly extended herself when she concocted the geographical architecture of the country surrounding 'Cidade Bonita' (City Beautiful). Strangely shaped mountains, delightful bays, sleepy inlets and the dear old Atlantic, whose other side touches the 'land we love,' all contribute toward making Rio the wonderfully beautiful city it is.

"At 9.30, last Saturday morning, we again passed Cape Frio, just sixty miles from Rio, the first bit of mountain scenery that greets the incoming passenger.

"Rearing its rugged head 400 metres above the snappy, roaring breakers, with its curved nose pointing toward Rio, it served as an excellent inducement to the 'sea sickers' to come on deck, where most remained until those in the cabin were attracted by the 'Ohs!' and 'Ahs!' and sauntered forth just in time to see Sugar Loaf, the famous loaf-shaped mountain that graces the entrance to Bahia del Rio (Bay of Rio), and which is more famous since the visit of Uncle Sam's fleet. Leaving the boat we were taken ashore in the Lloyd Brazileiro launch, and before we knew it we were again traversing Avenida Central (Le Champs de Elysee of Brazil), a most beautiful street, and said by many to be the finest in the world.

"The Avenida is about 160 feet wide and one mile long. The pavements are of wonderfully patterned stone, and buildings of quaint architecture grace its entire length as far as the new Municipal Theatre, where the street ends abruptly in Monroe Square, which surrounds Palace Monroe, the elaborate edifice built in honor of the Hon. Elihu Root during his visit to Rio a few years ago. Behind Monroe Palace begins the Botopoga driveway, and skirting the bay for several miles it finally brings one up to the portals of the National Exposition of Bazil. The Exposition, another delightful dream in architecture, lies at the port of Mount Azula, and threads its way along the bay to Sugar Loaf, covering a level space for several hundred acres, dotted here and there with highly veneered State buildings, marvelously illuminated fountains and great, roomy parades, which are but seldom crowded. The States of Bahia, Sao Paulo, Contarina, Minas Gereas, Parahyba, and the Federal District, Rio de Janeiro, are creditably represented by cleverly designed structures, and fairly laden with products, but the displays are too numerous to receive individual attention here.

"It costs the Government $5,000 gold, a night, to illuminate the grounds and buildings, and I would judge there are about as many lights as at Luna Park, Coney Island. One thousand reis is charged at the gate, about thirty-three cents, real money, and, with the exception of moving picture shows, a variety theatre, theatre of illusions, three merry-go-rounds, 30ft. Ferris wheel, which is broke half the time, and an affair they call 'Sile for Life,' there are no other amusement devices on the grounds, and that, more than anything else, is the direct cause of the failure of the project.

"Various playhouses in the city are housing attractions at present, but none of them are doing anything to boast of, owing to the small-pox scare here, and on account of 'short-pursedness.' Frank Brown's Circus is in an eight weeks' engagement at the San Pedro, a Portuguese dramatic company is struggling along at the Palace, a Spanish lyric company, tired of playing to 'bench audiences' at the Recrel Dramatico, has resorted to 'Guarany,' by the late Carlos Gomez, the Brazilian master, and an Italian lyric company of seventy-two people gives its last show at the Apollo next Sunday, after which Raymond opens Sunday for a run and a jump.

"We closed at Bahia with a benefit for the public, and satisfied our fifteenth audience, but evidently some one was not satisfied with the show, for while Mr. Raymond was at the theatre Sunday night, his desk trunk was broken open at the hotel, and 5,000 milreis (about $2,000), along with a gold fountain-pen and jeweled suspenders left with the marauder. If he will return the pen he can wear the suspenders. One stands about as much chance of recovering stolen property in Brazil as Hammerstein does of securing Gertrude Hoffmann and Eva Tanguay to do a sister act.

"After twenty more performances here we continue on our 'globe trotting.' Hoping the season opens with a whirl, and that none are 'left at the post,' with best wishes to those in the States from Mr. Raymond and myself, I am, very sincerely,

"LUELLA CROSS-RAYMOND."

Reception Held By New York Elks.

The New York Lodge, No. 1, of Elks, held an entertainment and reception in aid of the charity fund, at the Lexington Opera House, New York City, Thursday evening, Nov. 12, which was attended by about 2,000 people.

A fine vaudeville bill included: The Labakans, Ned Nye, Ida Crisp, Gus Williams, Ward and Curran, Winona Winter, Jack Mason's "Commencement Day," Phyllis Lee, "Atra," the mysterious sensation; Alice Lloyd and the Elkograph.

Rev. W. H. L. Reaney, the Exalted Ruler, and many other high officials were on hand.

Joseph J. Leo Extends Bookings.

Joseph J. Leo, manager and booking agent of the Dewey, Gotham and Vanity Fair, New York, will also book acts for the Star Theatre, One Hundred and Seventh Street and Lexington Avenue, beginning this week. Mr. Leo will put on some of the best vaudeville acts and will keep the house up to the standard of the Dewey and Gotham. He has the booking for acts for six weeks around New York City.

"Should Old Acquaintance be Forgot?"

Last week, on the bill at Hammerstein's Victoria, New York City, were some of the real old variety acts which THE CLIPPER for the past thirty years has mentioned in its variety news. Among the acts were Ezra Kendall, Will H. Fox, Maggie Cline, Annie Yeamans, Rice and Cohen, and Ward and Curran, and it was voted one of the best bills of the season.

Divorce for Mrs. Ned Wayburn.

Mrs. Ned Wayburn was granted a divorce last week by Justice Dayton, in the Supreme Court of New York, at the conclusion of the fourth action she has brought against her husband within the last six years. She charged desertion, and no effort at defense was made.

John R. Rogers to Appear with Minnie Palmer.

It is announced that John R. Rogers and Minnie Palmer will appear together in "A Woman's Curiosity," at Young's Pier, Atlantic City, Nov. 23, under management of Ben Harris. This will be Mr. Rogers' first appearance on the stage for many years.

France to Have a Luna Park.

Word comes from Europe that Calvin Brown has a contract to control all the amusements at the East of France Exhibition, to be held at Nancy in 1909. He says he will give Nancy a genuine American park equal to Coney Island's Luna.

PARK THEATRE, BROOKLYN, BURNED.

Fire Destroys Interior of the House.

The historic Park Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., the oldest playhouse in that city, was practically destroyed by fire last Thursday afternoon, Nov. 12. The blaze, which started an hour after the last of a large matinee audience had departed, destroyed the interior of the house. Everything within the four walls, with the exception of the stage, was swept by fire.

A number of members of the Spooner Stock Co., which had been playing in the theatre since the opening of the present season, were in the building when the fire started, and Mrs. Spooner was in the box office. All escaped. It was after 5 o'clock, and only the players and the business staff were in the house when the cry of fire was raised.

The fire started between the ceiling and the roof, and gained great headway before it was discovered. The origin of the blaze is believed to have been defective insulation.

The players in the building hurried to the street, but returned to the dressing rooms and began to remove costumes and articles of value. Jessie McAllister, Harold Kennedy, Boyd Nolan, Pearl Latelle, Ida Ackerman and others removed valuable property before they were compelled to seek the safety of the street.

The Park Theatre was built by B. C. Benton in 1863, and was opened under the management of Gabriel Harrison, a celebrated actor of that period. Sept. 14, 1863, was the opening date, with Buckstone's "Married Life" as the bill. Shortly after that Harrison appeared in several plays put on there, and later on organized an English opera troupe, with Mme. Compte Borchard, William Castle and S. C. Campbell as stars, and Theodore Thomas as conductor.

At the end of the first season of the Park's career Mr. Harrison relinquished his management of it, and Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Conway re-opened it the following season and managed it for six or seven years as a stock company house. In 1871 A. R. Samuells became the lessee, and three years later Edward Lamb secured it and remained there one year.

The late Colonel Wm. E. Sinn leased the house in 1875, and made it the leading theatre of Brooklyn. At the Park the best of plays were produced for years, until the Montauk (since changed to the Crescent) was built for Colonel Sinn. He then gave up the Park.

After that the Hyde & Behman Co. leased it for a while, and three years ago the Shuberts became the lessees. They in turn leased the house to the United States Amusement Co., when Klaw & Erlanger attempted to promote "advanced vaudeville."

Last season the famous old house was used as a moving picture theatre, and this Fall the Spooners, when they returned to Brooklyn, secured the Park and made it their new home.

The Spooner Stock Co. last week put on "The Henrietta," the cast being: Nicolas Van Alstyne, Rex. F. Wilson; Dr. Parke Wainright, Boyd Nolan; Bertie Van Alstyne, Harold Kennedy; Nicolas Van Alstyne Jr., Will W. Crimmans; Rev. Dr. Murray Hilton, Edwin H. Curtis; Musgrave, an old clerk, William L. West; Lord Archar Trelawney, Arthur Ritchie; Watson Flint, Milton Boyle; Mrs. Rose Van Alstyne, Josephine Fox; Lady Mary Trelawney, Julia Varney; Agnes, Mildred Hyland; Mrs. Cornelia Opdyke, Jessie McAllster.

It is stated that the theatre will not be rebuilt, but that a "skyscraper" office building will be erected on the site.

Olympic Music Hall, Chicago.

The Olympic Music Hall of Chicago, of which John J. Murdock is manager, opened Monday, Nov. 9, and was pronounced by press and public to be one of the handsomest music halls in the world. Many thousands of dollars were spent by Manager Murdock renovating the theatre, and no expense has been spared to make it a model of its kind.

The hand painting of the flowers so conspicuous in the ornamentation of the panels in the foyer and Louis XIV room, was performed by Mrs. Sleeper, an artist of renown in Chicago. The decorating of the auditorium and lobby are all of the highest type of decorator's art.

The ventilating plant is one of the most complete ever installed in a theatre. The entrance above the auditorium is adorned with Swiss Chalet windows and stained glass and heavy stucco ornaments. It is also the only first class playhouse in Chicago where smoking is permitted, but no intoxicating drinks are sold. In the matter of rich appointments and the care taken to add to the convenience of patrons, especially women and children, the house at once demonstrated its popularity.

Aimee Angeles to Return to Stage.

Aimee Angeles, who, since she became Mrs. George Considine, about two years ago, has given up the stage, has decided to return to the footlights.

SEVERE HEMORRHOIDS

Sores and Itching Eczema—Doctor Though an Operation Necessary.

CUTICURA'S EFFICACY PROVEN

"I am now eighty years old, and three years ago I was taken with an attack of piles (hemorrhoids), bleeding and protruding. The doctor said the only help for me was to go to a hospital and be operated on. I tried several remedies for months, but did not get much help. During this time sores appeared which changed to a terrible itching eczema. Then I began to use Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills, injecting a quantity of Cuticura Ointment with a Cuticura Suppository Syringe. It took a month of this treatment to get me in a fairly healthy state, and then I treated myself once a day for three months, and after that once or twice a week. The treatments I tried took a lot of money, and it is fortunate that I used Cuticura. J. H. Henderson, Hopkinton, N. Y., Apr. 26, '07."

THE STAGE AND MORALS.

The effect of the stage and its environment upon those who enter its ranks, especially upon the girl of the spear carrying type, has long been discussed. The open question is "Can a cultured, refined girl remain so after becoming associated with the stage?" The semi-religious emphatically say, "No;" the wholly religious (asking pardon for the pun) evasively answer, "Possibly," with a slight shrug; while the broad minded reply, "Why not?" But the plainest and truest answer is, "She can if she will." In other words, adopting footlight phraseology, "It's up to the girl."

After-the-show champagne suppers, can-can dances on dining tables, automobile rides during the infant hours with stage-door acquaintances, paste diamonds or genuine stones "that was give t' me by the cute guy in th' last stand," breach of promise suits and yellow journal scandal do not necessarily constitute any part of a chorus girl's life. It is the germ in her blood and not her employer or her work, that requires her to plunge into the stream of dissipation which runs unchecked.

The fight for recognition in the performer's profession is a hard one, because the very atmosphere is full of treacherous pitfalls ever ready to receive those who are too weak willed to think twice. It is a profession in which only the highest ideals, the truest ambitions, and the cleanest principals survive. There are but two clearly defined divisions—good and bad; and it is just as easy for a chorus girl to enroll and maintain her position in the first division, if she so determines, as it is to join the second, which, doubtless, is more alluring to some.

Two years ago, when the famous Torrey evangelistic wave swept over the country, its influence spread to the chorus ranks of a large spectacular production then being presented for a run of several weeks in Philadelphia. An announcement was posted on the call-board, stating that an evangelist would address the girls in their costumes after certain matinees every week.

The entire company, consisting of one hundred and fifty girls, was present during the first meeting merely because of curiosity, but this number dwindled to thirty-eight on the next afternoon, and remained so during the ensuing six weeks. Of this small aggregation two were the daughters of clergymen, four were experience seeking choir singers with grand opera aspirations, twelve were graduated college girls who had signed with the hope that they might be "noticed" and later given a "try-out" with one of the dramatic companies under their employer's management, and the others were girls of smaller ambitions, who were working hard nine months of the year for the privilege of spending three months with the folks at home. Would it be unfair to assume that the one hundred and twelve belonged to the second division?

The success or failure of every man depends mainly upon the stuff that is potent in his make-up. And so with the chorus girl. She can be what she will—it's up to the girl.
—W. DAYTON WEGEFARTH, in December Lippincott's Magazine.

Dustin Farnum Divorced.

On Nov. 14 the final decree of divorce was signed by Supreme Court Justice Bischoff, in favor of Mrs. A. Johnstone Farnum, from her husband, Dustin Lancy Farnum. The testimony in the case was taken before M. Linn Bruce, as referee, and was kept secret.

Actors' Society "Stunt."

The fifth "stunt" of the Actors' Society of America was held at the clubhouse in Forty-fifth Street, New York City, Sunday evening, Nov. 15. A fine bill was given and a big audience welcomed it.

JEANNETTE LE BLANC reports meeting with success in vaudeville, doing her singing and dancing specialty.

Maude Odell Gives Special Performance.

Maude Odell, the "Ten Thousand Dollar Beauty," who has been widely advertised, made her first American appearance at a special performance Saturday morning, Nov. 14, at the Lincoln Square, New York City. About a hundred newspaper men received invitations, and Miss Odell's sketch, "The Chameleon," was presented.

Miss Odell is a remarkably well formed woman, and in several pretty poses justified all that has been said in praise of her.

Under the Tents.

Barnum & Bailey Winter Quarters.

The circus is home again. How the tales and stories will begin to flow! What storms the boys all went through and thrilling escapes from wrecks, and so on! But then again, what joyous times we all had, and look what we have seen. All through the golden West, over the Rockies into Denver, the city of seven hills, Cripple Creek, with its gold mines, and into Colorado Springs, a pleasant trip into the most entrancing place, the Garden of the Gods. Only those who have been and seen the wonderful formation can conceive its effects on the human mind. On to Salt Lake, with all its mysteries of Mormonism, a run over the salt beds to Saltair Beach, a dip in Salt Lake, and a dance in the famous ballroom where 1,000 couples can waltz with ease; on to Montana, passing on the way Livingston, the entrance to the great Yellowstone Park. From the circus train we could see the old time coach and mule just starting on its tour through the park, and here we are in Butte, the city of copper and copper kings.

Ask the boys about the Dublin Gulch gang. Although they did not trouble the Big Show, smaller shows have suffered considerably at their hands. From Montana into Wyoming, the home State of Col. Cody (Buffalo Bill). Several of the boys took a run to Cody, and we were pleasantly received by the Colonel's genial and devoted sister. Down into Idaho, the home of the rattlesnake, many an exciting incident occurred.

Proceeding on we at length arrived in British Columbia, and what a hit that show from Bridgeport made with the Canuck! The city can well be proud of the Greatest Show on Earth. Back into God's country again, to Coma, Walla Walla and Seattle, Wash., followed down into Oregon. Here many of the boys visited the famous Red Tree Forest, and, say, on the strict q. t., when you hear them say how tall and big they are, just smile—that's all. Now for the Golden State of California, with all its famous orange groves, palm trees and magnolia trees. Those who were in San Francisco with us in 1905 could have hardly known it since the terrible earthquake of 1906.

Poor Joe Hampton, or, as we all called him, "English Joe," died here, and was buried by the 'Frisco Aerie of Eagles, he being a member of the Bridgeport Aerie, No. 420. Tom Lynch, the father of all the boys, and Dick Shanahan, acted as pallbearers. Joe was the hero of many a race in Chantilly, France, and his stories of the great Derby race were worth listening to. Oakland and then Riverside, which has the most beautiful drive in the State. It runs for ten miles, and on either side palm trees and magnolias in full bloom, and orange groves in all their beauty, make this place one of the most charming spots in the West. And then Santa Barbara! We have all heard of the phrase, "See Naples and die," and the same can be said of this Santa Barbara. The clear blue sky, the vast expanse of water; the old Spanish monastery, now used as a swimming pool; the magnificent Salters' hotel, facing the bay; a boulevard, studded on each side with different varieties of palms and cactuses, and the snow capped mountains for a background, make a glorious sight.

Proceeding South, we arrived into Bakersfield, where the famous twenty mile mule team can be seen entering into Death Valley. Here John Foley, assistant superintendent to Tom Lynch, met many of his old time friends, he being one of the famous drivers out of Death Valley. Proceeding South, Old King Sol has no mercy, and the heat proved terrible. Leaving San Bernardino we entered the Needles, as the valley is called. This place is supposed to be the hottest place in the United States. Entering Yuma Avin, we were busy buying Indian souvenirs from the Yuma tribe of Indians here. They claim they are not too well behaved, and some of their old time dances are stopped by the officials here. Passing on, we arrived at Douglass, and many a one tells of how much he won at the games. There are several Bridgeporters living in this vicinity, and we were mighty glad to get acquainted and have a smile, talking of old times.

On to Bigbee, the boom gold ore town, which was nothing but a few shacks up to a few years ago, and now is a flourishing town.

At one of the gambling houses in particular no less than forty-two different kinds of games are played, from fan-fan to the big layout or faro game, having a bank of $50,000 in gold always in sight. It would be rather unhealthy to make a muss, because they tell you that everything is on the level, and that goes with a big 44 to help them. Leaving Tucson we proceeded to Texas. Never gamble about crap or mention cards while you are there, because the sheriff needs the money. They caught us once at a friendly game, result—$37.75 a person, and we quit after that, at least for a while. Heading toward El Paso, on the Rio Grande, we journeyed across to Old Mexico and witnessed the bull fight, which was rather a tame affair. Jueraz is a quaint old town, so very different from the busy city of El Paso. Its adobe houses, narrow streets and quaint costumes strike one as being very peculiar.

Leaving Texas we headed for Louisiana, and at last could really say we were in the land of cotton; business good and hotels rotten. New Orleans, the Crescent City, has a charm for all. Wide thoroughfares, and Canal Street, six tracks, and a trolley system second to none. Turning Northward we began to think of Home, Sweet Home, and how we all longed for that famous city of Bridgeport. And sure enough, the boys are just coming in the big top with the news that the last route is out, and we close in Clarksdale, Miss., and then begin our long ride home—the last of 18,000 miles. We have the glad news that our brother and sister Tigers are going to have a grand reception for us, and a ball in Quilty's Hall, Bridgeport, Nov. 25, and then we will all join in as one family telling our experiences and adventures of the past. Mingling with us on that occasion will be Otto Ringling, Col. Cody and all the performers who will be in Bridgeport this Winter.

Our ride home from the South was without incident. We reached the haven of rest, the Winter quarters, at 4 A. M., on the morning of 10. We had scarcely started the work of transferring the stock from the cars to the cages in the animal house, when big John Carlin was attacked by a bear, who objected to the shift, and had his right arm lacerated, but fortunately bruin did not use his claws. Carlon is now at the Bridgeport Hospital, where he will recover. We are home for the Winter, and the boys all send best regards to THE CLIPPER, which has been a constant companion throughout all our journey.

A DAUGHTER WAS BORN TO MRS. HOWARD DAMON on Nov. 9. Mr. and Mrs. Damon are located in their home at the Winter quarters of Walter L. Main.

KITTY EMMETT AND LILLIAN E. MCNEILL return to vaudeville Nov. 23.

Notes from Car No. 2, Buffalo Bill Show.

Advertising Car No. 2, of Buffalo Bill's Wild West, closed a season of seven months on Nov. 12, at Memphis, Tenn. Every man who closed with this car opened with the show last Spring. The Home, Sweet Home stand, which was designed by Henry Mason, was posted on one of the most prominent billboards in Memphis.

Before the boys departed for their various homes, a banquet was tendered to them by V. B. Cooke, of the car. Harley White gave the history of Jefferson, Iowa; Larry Sullivan gave imitations, Jinny Brett, lately of "Ben-Hur," sang a few of his famous songs, and Roy Cady did his old (Joey) clown act, which he did in days of old with the Walter Main Shows.

After the banquet the boys departed for their homes, to rest before starting work for the Winter. V. B. Cooke, manager of Car No. 2, has returned to New Jersey, to rest for the Winter. Harley White went to Jefferson, Iowa, to exchange stories with the farmers. Geo. Battis and Larry Sullivan have returned to New York City, to rejoin the bill posting brigades. Walter Van Dien has returned to Paterson, N. J. Dave Muir returned to St. Louis, and is anxiously awaiting for all to come and see him before you can bill St. Louis. Jack Reardon has got a lecture on bull fights and cock fights, to recite to the natives of his home town, Waterbury, Conn. William Morrison returned to Springfield, Mass. Henry Lasher to Waterville, Me.; H. Mason to Norfolk, Va., to be a shining light in the photograph business. Wilbert Winn goes to Sharon, Pa. James A. Lyons went to New York City to be a dispenser of various beverages. "Shorty" Turner, the old-time Brooklyn and New York agent, has returned to his famous City of Churches. Joe Hyland, famous as his "big noise," has gone to New York, to join some band as a trombone player.

NOTES FROM Al. F. Wheeler's Show.—Mr. Wheeler and John Welsh purchased last week at Philadelphia, all of the horses formerly used by the Quaker City Transfer Co. Included in the lot were twenty-four head of heavy dapple grays. This stock will be divided between the Al. F. Wheeler and the Welsh Bros.' Shows. The "New Model" will be greatly enlarged for next season, and the "Newest Great" will again be launched with an entirely new outfit.

Vaudeville and Minstrel.

HARRY TSUDA is booked solid on the Inter-State and Orpheum circuits, and will shortly produce his new act, a dramatic composition, using three people and a spiral act.

ADELE PURVIS ONRI AND MLLE. ALOMA opened on the Inter-State circuit Nov. 9.

MARION BLAKE has closed a three weeks' engagement at the Majestic Music Hall, Cincinnati, and will shortly resume her tour of the Western circuits.

THE SUCCESS OF J. Aldrich Libbey and Katharine Trayer is being proven over the Sun circuit, where they have been drawing cards for the last few weeks.

JOE LA FLEUR AND CHIQUITA are starting on their tenth week on the Orpheum circuit, booked solid until May, 1909.

MRS. ANNIE P. MILTON, mother of Chas. W. Milton, the minstrel, died recently at their home, Edgewood, Atlanta, Ga. The remains were interred in the family plot in Eastview, Nov. 1.

"SUNDRIES" is the title of the book by A. A. Spanuinger, which contains valuable comedy material. It is published by J. P. Moyton & Co.

MARGUERITE AND HANLEY sail this week for Europe, after closing a successful engagement with the Ringling Brothers' Circus.

REBA AND INEZ KAUFMAN opened at the Folies Bergere, Paris, France, Nov. 16, after a very successful engagement at Ronacher's, Vienna.

THE AERIAL SMITHS write from Chemnitz, Germany, that they are booked up solid to Nov. 31, 1909, in their act, which is making a big hit.

COOK AND WIEGAND write that after playing thirty-six weeks in the West, Mr. Cook last week put his knee out of joint, and is compelled to lay off for a week. They will open in New York City week of Nov. 23.

EDWARD MOZART'S handsome new Mozart Theatre, Elmira, N. Y., opens Monday, Nov. 23. A complete orchestra is to be installed there. Every seat for the opening week is reserved, and Elmirians are eagerly awaiting the coming of Monday, when the doors will be thrown open for the first time, and the new Mozart Theatre becomes Elmira's popular vaudeville place of amusement. A complete description will be given this house following the opening.

J. MONTE CRANE, singing dialect comedian, has joined hands with Stanley Greenwood, operatic tenor of the Boston Ideal Opera Co. They are in the sixth week, playing the electric theatres of New England, doing a new singing, talking and dancing act, written by Mr. Crane, and they are also singing his own parodies.

KENDALL WESTON writes: "One of the most convincing of dramatic sketches yet written was presented recently at Hathaway's Theatre, Malden, Mass., and it won the unstinted praise of local audiences, as well as that of Boston theatregoers. It is called 'What Money Can't Buy,' and was written by Edw. F. Payne, of The Boston Sunday Globe." Mr. Weston, in the stellar role, that of a wealthy American, John Blake, scored heavily, and Maude Scott, a young actress, was charming as an English aristocrat. Three curtain calls were awarded the sketch at each performance.

THE CLIFFORDS, sword swallowers, closed a very successful season with the Gollmar Bros.' Show, Oct. 31, and are resting for three weeks in Chicago, with Mr. and Mrs. Miller, before commencing their vaudeville dates.

G. R. GUY, who has been suffering from a sprained ankle, is now able to walk without crutches.

MABLE GRIFFITH was successfully operated upon at St. Joseph's Hospital on Nov. 2, is gaining strength rapidly, and will be able to return to work in two weeks.

DOW AND DOW have again joined hands, after being separated for two months, and are now playing the Mozart circuit.

FLORENCE TOWNER, of the Towner Sisters, writes that she was granted an annulment of her marriage to Thomas Woods Fowlkes, in Buffalo, N. Y., on Nov. 2.

MLLE. ROSE EDYTH, premiere danseuse and ballet mistress, whose ballets are well known in circus and vaudeville, will re-enter vaudeville, in a single act, on Nov. 16, at Young's Pier, Atlantic City, N. J. B. S. Muckenfuss has engaged the act for the Inter-State circuit for February and March.

MADGE DAYTELL has been on the Inter-State circuit for ten weeks, and reports meeting with fine success.

NEW YORK CITY.

Keith & Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre (E. F. Albee, gen. mgr.)—This week Zelie De Lussan heads an excellent bill, and on Nov. 16 her delightful voice was heard to great advantage. She was shown every mark of favor. Julie Ring made a personal success, in "The Wrong Room," in which she masqueraded, as a boy, and acted with such animation and charm as to completely captivate her audience. She was given good aid by Jas. Norval and Harry Lorraine. J. Francis Dooley and Corrine Sales appeared in a new offering, which they call "Pavement Patter," and in which they sing and talk with capital effect. Their specialty made a fine impression on Monday. It will be more fully reviewed in our New Acts column next week. Others were: Clarence Wilbur and his Ten Jimmy Dolls, the Eight Madcaps, Charles Kenna, the Novellos, in their great circus act, and Selbini and Grovini.

Deutsches Theatre (Baumfeld & Burg, mgrs.)—Die Raeuber ("The Robbers") was presented Nov. 11, in celebration of Schiller's birthday, by the following company: Carl Sauermann, Ferdinand Steil, Emil Lind, Hedwig Reicher, Ernst Wurmser, Carl Sick, Hans Heilman, Jacques Horwitz, Heinr. Marlow, Clemens Bauer, Harry Liedtke, Kurt Groesser, Heinrich Loewenfeld, Otto Meyer, David Steindler. Mme. Fujiko appeared 12, in "The Vampire Cat," in Japanese costume. The Vampire Cat, descending the mountain in search of prey, crept into the yashiki of the noble Daimyo of Hizen. Sakuro-Ko, the beautiful favorite of the Daimyo, was walking among the flowers, and the Vampire Cat, after killing her, assumed her form. That was a thousand moons ago, at the hour of the bird. The Daimyo waited impatiently for his favorite, and when she did not come he drank sake until he grew sleepy. Then the Vampire Cat, in the guise of the favorite, entered the ya-biki and tempted the Daimyo by dancing before him. She worked her evil wky over the noble, and after appeasing the God of Storm crept back into the shadows of Naiseshima. The stage was kept in semi-darkness during the action of the play, and only at the final bow was the star clearly visible. The transformation from the cat to the woman was surprisingly realistic. An artistically embroidered kimono worn over the dancing garb and hangings, was topped off with a weird head dress. Mme. Fujiko had a number of recalls for her excellent work.

Third Avenue Theatre (Chas. E. Blaney, mgr.)—The Card King of the Coast opened 16, with the following company: Earl Mc Clellan, F. A. Yelvington, Victor Harvey, George Jones, Edward Jordon, Wm. Sport, Bert Berg, Wm. Walsh, Chas. Ambach, Grace Lorrette, Fussie Mae Lester and Marie Kinzie. Next week, "His Terrible Secret."

Huber's Museum (John H. Anderson, mgr.)—Another good bill is given for the week of Nov. 16, the usual good business still prevailing.

Fourteenth Street Theatre (J. Wesley Rosenquist, mgr.)—Good business continues, and the attractions offered are still up to the high standard expected here. The bill for the current week includes: Barrow and Milo, athletes; Miller and Princeton, musical act; Handy's Five Dancing Dolls, Jack Driscoll, illustrated songs.

Miner's Eighth Avenue Theatre (Edwin D. Miner, mgr.)—On every Wednesday night during the season waltz contests will be held, in which everyone is invited to join. The attraction for the current week is The Ducklings, which opened to a crowded house Nov. 16. The Jolly Girls follow.

Metropolitan Opera House.—The season at this house opened Monday night, Nov. 16, with Aida as the bill. The cast: Aida, Emmy Destinn; Amneris, Louise Homer; Ina Sacerdotess, Lenora Sparkes; Radames, Enrico Caruso; Amonasro, Antonio Scotti; Ramfis, Adamo Didur; Il Re, Giulio Rossi; Un Messaggiero, Angelo Bada. Arturo Toscanini conducted. This was the American debut of Emmy Destinn, Lenora Sparkes and Messrs. Rossi, Bada and Toscanini.

Olympic Theatre (Maurice Kraus, mgr.)—Clark's Runaway Girls are the attraction this week, with an excellent programme. Next week, Al. Reeves' Beauty Show.

Irving Place Theatre (Otto Weil, mgr.)—Schiller's birthday was celebrated by the production of Wilhelm Tell, Nov. 10. The cast included: Emma Olmar, Else Waldmann, Gertrude Urban, Julius Haller, Gustave Conradi, Claudius Merton, Oscar Fuchs, Amalie Cramer, Ferdinand Schindler and Gustav Ulmar.

Garrick Theatre (Chas. Frohman, mgr.)—Joseph Coyne and Alexandra Carlisle began their twelfth and last week in "The Wallace," and May Irwin her eighth and last week in "Mrs. Peckham's Carouse," Nov. 16. William Collier, in "The Patriot," follows 23.

Grand Opera House (John H. Springer, mgr.)—"The Great Divide" is this week's attraction, opening Nov. 16 to a good house. Next week, "The Round Up."

Gaiety (Klaw & Erlanger, Cohan & Harris, mgrs.)—"The Traveling Salesman" commenced its eleventh week at this house Nov. 16.

Knickerbocker Theatre (Al. Hayman & Co., mgrs.)—"The Girls of Gottenberg" began its twelfth week and last fortnight Nov. 16.

Lyceum Theatre (Daniel Frohman, mgr.)—Billie Burke, in "Love Watches," began her thirteenth week Nov. 16.

Lyric Theatre (Sam S. & Lee Shubert, Inc., mgrs.)—Lulu Glaser, in "Mlle. Mischief," commenced her eighth week Nov. 16.

Theatre Unique (E. L. Weil, mgr.)—The changing of vaudeville features three times each week, and a good variety of moving pictures, continue to draw fine business.

Bijou Dream (Twenty-third Street).—The performances here are well attended and the pictures shown are excellent.

Bijou Dream (Fifty-eighth Street).—Excellent moving pictures continue to attract large crowds to this house.

Weber's Theatre (Jos. M. Weber, mgr.)—"Paid in Full" began its fourteenth and last week at this house Nov. 16. Julia Dean has succeeded Lillian Albertson in the cast. Lost Paradise Post has assumed the role of Brooks. Annie Russell follows 23.

Comedy Theatre (Max Oberndorf, mgr.)—This comfortable house, together with its programme of fine moving pictures and excellent vaudeville, continue to draw good business.

Lew Fields' Herald Square Theatre.—"Three Twins" began its twenty-third week Nov. 16.

Garden Theatre (Claxton Wilstach, mgr.)—The house is dark this week. Henry E. Dixey is announced to open in "Mary Jane's Pa" Nov. 23.

Criterion Theatre (Charles Frohman, mgr.)—William Gillette began his fifth week, in "Samson," Nov. 16.

Empire Theatre (Chas. Frohman, mgr.)—John Drew, in "Jack Straw," commenced his tenth week Nov. 16.

New Amsterdam Theatre (Klaw & Erlanger, mgrs.)—"Little Nemo" began its fifth week Nov. 16.

Broadway Theatre (Litt & Dingwall, mgrs.)—Grace Van Studdiford, in "The Golden Butterfly," commenced her sixth and last week Nov. 16. The Sicilian Players follow 23.

Bijou Dream (Union Square).—Moving pictures and illustrated songs continue to please large attendance.

American Theatre (William Morris, inc., mgr.)—The attendance has continued big, and the long programmes furnished for its amusement have been of the high class order. The programme for the current week has for its notable headliner, Harry Lauder, that inimitable Scotch comedian. Mr. Lauder has a wonderful ability in expressing Scottish humor, and is able to hold the stage an unlimited time without tiring his audience. That his performance is enjoyable is proved by the hearty and enthusiastic applause. The clever act given by McMahon's Watermelon Girls is again one of the hits of a good bill. Oswald Williams does his mystery work in finished style, and proves popular. The Australian Tree Fellers use a novel woodcutting act that pleases. The Romanos do some clever things with trumpets, one member of the team blowing two at one time. Barry Lupino is agile, and his eccentric dancing is something out of the usual run. Julian Rose has a good line of talk, which he handles in an entertaining manner that wins applause. McDermott and Raymond drew many laughs with their good work. The above act will be reviewed in our next issue. Motion pictures closed the show.

Victoria Theatre (Oscar Hammerstein, mgr.)—The attractive bills presented here, and the cool weather, combine to fill this house at every performance. The programme for the current week is full of good things. Wormwood's dog and monkey circus has well trained animals that do some interesting tricks. Belleclaire Bros., dressed in evening clothes, do some astonishing feats of strength in a finished style that is well applauded. Valeska Suratt and William Gould receive a hearty welcome. Miss Suratt's pleasing personality and the songs and dances by both are well received. J. Warren Keane is clever and interesting with his sleight-of-hand work and card manipulation. Julius Steger and company do good work in "The Fifth Commandment." Claire Romaine pleases with her interesting manner of singing some original songs. Monday afternoon she was compelled to sing more than the usual quota of songs. Ryan and White are graceful in some clever, original dancing. Harrison and Howard, that clever pair, late of "The Flower of the Ranch," sang some original songs in a manner that certainly "caught on." The fine voices of the Empire City Quartette are heard in a budget of good songs. Vitagraph pictures close the show.

Lincoln Square Theatre (M. S. Schlesinger, mgr.)—Amelia Bingham, presenting her original sketch, entitled "Big Moments from Great Plays," heads the bill here this week. Prominently featured on the bill is Maude Odell (her American debut), in a posing and living picture act, entitled "The Chameleon," which will be reviewed next week. Others on this week's bill are: Juliet (second week), in impersonations; Cliff Gordon, "The German Senator," in his political satire; the Mayo Twins, in one of the funniest bits of comedy characterization ever produced in vaudeville; the Stappooles, in an acrobatic comedy skit, entitled "A Crazy Caddie," made their American debut 16, most auspiciously, and the act will receive attention next week; the Three Dunbolds, musical act; the Bradfords, in songs and dances, and the Blarney-scope.

Colonial Theatre (Percy G. Williams, mgr.)—Capacity business continues to be the rule here, and Manager Williams is adhering strictly to his rule of giving his patrons the best vaudeville talent for their entertainment from week to week. Feature acts on this week's bill include: Lily Lena, the dainty singing comedienne, who began her first engagement of the Winter at the Colonial, Monday, 16, presenting some new songs and displaying a number of pretty gowns as well; Walter C. Kelly, the "Virginia Judge," in his amusing monologue; William Hawtrey and company, in a playlet entitled "Compromised;" the funny farcelet, "Fun in a Boarding House;" Lamberti, an accomplished musician; Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, in a singing and dancing skit, entitled "The Busy Bell Boy;" Francini Glions, a European novelty act, which will be reviewed next week; Hal Merritt, in his entertaining "Poster Girl" monologue; Apdale's animals, and the Vitagraph.

Manhattan Opera House (Oscar Hammerstein, mgr.)—Thais was the bill Wednesday night, Nov. 11, with this cast: Thais, Mary Garden; Crobyle, Mlle. Trentini; Myrtale, Mlle. Ponzano; Albine, Mlle Ponzano; Athanael, Maurice Renaud; Nicias, Charles Dalmores; Palemon, Felix Vieuille, Cleofonte Campanini conducted. Samson et Dalila was sung night of 13, with this cast: Dalila, Mlle. Gerville Reache; Samson, Charles Dalmores; High Priest, Hector Dufranne; Abimelech, Armand Crabbe; An Old Hebrew, Felix Vieuille; A Messenger, Signor Venturini. Odette Valery was the premiere danseuse, and Cleofonte Campanini conducted. Tosca was repeated Saturday afternoon, 14, with the same cast as that of Monday night. Il Barbiere di Siviglia was rendered Saturday night. Cast: Rosina, Mme. Terrazzini; Bertha, Mlle. Trentini; Conte D'Almaviva, Signor Parola; Figaro, Signor Sammarco; Bartolo, M. Charles Gilibert; Don Basilio, Senor de Segurola; Fiorello, Signor Venturini; Sergeant, Signor Fossetta. Cleofonte Campanini conducted. Il Barbiere di Siviglia was repeated Monday night, 16.

Majestic Theatre (W. L. Rowland, mgr.)—"Blue Grass" began the second week of its engagement Nov. 16.

Bijou Theatre (A. C. Campbell, mgr.)—Thomas A. Wise and Douglas Fairbanks began their eighth week in "A Gentleman from Mississippi," Nov. 16.

Casino (Sam S. & Lee Shubert, inc., mgrs.)—Louise Gunning commenced her eighth week, in "Marcelle," Nov. 16. A champagne dance has been added by Edith Girvan, David Bonnatt and Robert O'Connor.

New York Hippodrome (Shubert & Anderson, mgrs.)—"Sporting Days," with the customary arena features; "The Land of Birds" and "The Battle in the Skies," began their tenth week Nov. 16. The entertainment continues to please, and crowded houses are the result.

Hackett Theatre (James K. Hackett, mgr.)—This house is dark Monday and is announced to open Tuesday, Nov. 17, with Mrs. Fiske, in Salvation Nell, a review of which will appear in our next issue.

Academy of Music (Gilmore & Tompkins, mgrs.)—Montgomery and Stone began the third week of their engagement in "The Red Mill," Nov. 16.

Circle Theatre (Harry Lindley, mgr.)—Louis Mann, in "The Man Who Stood Still," commenced his sixth week Nov. 16.

Savoy Theatre (Frank McKee, mgr.)—"The Servant in the House" began its fifth week and last fortnight Nov. 16.

Manhattan Theatre.—Moving pictures and vaudeville continue to please large attendance.

Belasco Theatre (David Belasco, mgr.)—George Arliss in "The Devil," began his fourteenth week Nov. 16.

New York Theatre (Klaw & Erlanger, mgrs.)—The American Idea" commenced its seventh week and last fortnight Nov. 16.

Astor Theatre (Wagenhals & Kemper, mgrs.)—William Hodge, in "The Man from Home," began his fourteenth week Nov. 16.

Hudson Theatre (Henry B. Harris, mgr.)—Ethel Barrymore commenced the second week of her engagement in "Lady Frederick," Nov. 16.

Liberty Theatre (Klaw & Erlanger, mgrs.)—"Via Wireless" began its third week Nov. 16.

Stuyvesant Theatre (David Belasco, mgr.)—Blanche Bates, in "The Fighting Hope," commenced her ninth week Nov. 16.

Wallack's (Chas. Burnham, mgr.)—Marie Cahill, in "The Boys and Betty," began her third week Nov. 16.

Daly's Theatre (Sam S. & Lee Shubert, inc., mgrs.)—William Faversham, in "The World and His Wife," commenced his third week Nov. 16.

Dewey Theatre (Wm. H. Fox Amusement Co., mgrs.)—Moving pictures and vaudeville continue to draw well.

Murray Hill Theatre (J. Herbert Mack, mgr.)—The Rentz-Santley Co. opened Nov. 16, while the Blue Ribbon Girls are announced for next week.

Miner's Bowery Theatre (Edwin D. Miner, mgr.)—The Broadway Gaiety Girls this week, will be followed, 23, by the Washington Society Girls.

London Theatre (James H. Curtin, mgr.)—The Merry Burlesquers crowded houses Monday, Nov. 16. Next week, the Travelers.

Yorkville Theatre (Frank Gersten, mgr.)—Gordin's Kreutzer Sonata, with Eugenie Blair in the leading female role, is the attraction here this week.

Harlem.—At Keith & Proctor's One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street (E. F. Albee, gen. mgr.) this week's bill includes: Mabel Barrison and Joseph Howard, Chas. E. Evans and company, Ida Fuller, Fred Lindsay and company, Six American Dancers, Tuscany Troubadours, Fox and Foxie Circus, and new motion pictures.

WEST END (J. K. Cookson, mgr.)—Joe Weber's Travesty Co., with Joe Weber, Blanche Ring, Walter Jones, Blanche Deyo, Al. Hart, Grace Griswold and Chas. J. Ross prominent as funmakers, began the week 16, in "The Merry Widow and the Devil." The show in part is not new to New York, but there are other portions that have been added to it since last season, and "The Devil" travesty is new. George V. Hobart has done good work in the matter of lines, and Joe Weber, as Heinrich Disch, is exceedingly funny. Blanche Ring made the big hit of the opening performance, and the audience was delighted with her singing of "Bonny, My Highland Lassie," and "Yip, I Ader, I Aye." Charles J. Ross was capital as the Prince, a part he plays with splendid effect, and Blanche Deyo also scored in her dances. Walter Jones, as the Devil, was well liked, and Albert Hart and Lillian Fitzgerald did excellent work. The chorus was as animated and pretty as the Weber choruses usually are, and the entertainment went with a hurrah from start to finish. Next week, "Girls."

METROPOLIS (Chas. L. Waters, mgr.)—"Wanted By the Police" was well received by two good sized houses 16. Next week, "Graustark."

ALHAMBRA (Percy G. Williams, mgr.)—This week Clarice Mayne is the headliner. Others are: Hyams and McIntyre, Carlin and Otto, Charles F. Seamon, Trovolo, McIntyre and Heath, Emilia Rose, Dixon Bros., and vitagraph.

HURTIG & SEAMON'S MUSIC HALL (Sam Hurtig, mgr.)—The Night Owls opened to a great house 16. Next week, Clark's Jersey Lilies.

FAMILY (George A. Boyer, mgr.)—This week's bill offers: Sabos, juggler; Evelyn Stoddard, Joe Weston, John O. Johnson, Feeney and Reilly, Hanlon and Wilson, and Pathe's moving pictures.

Brooklyn.—At the Montauk (Edward Trail, mgr.) "The Lion and the Mouse" Nov. 16-21. "The Great Divide" last. Next, Kyrle Bellew, in "The Thief."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC, Brooklyn's new operatic home, was dedicated Saturday night, Nov. 14, when the Metropolitan Opera Co. opened its season with a presentation of "Faust." The cast was: Marguerite, Geraldine Farrar; Siebel, Rita Foraia; Marthe, Marie Mattfeld; Faust, Enrico Caruso; Mephistopheles, Adamo Didur; Valentin, Jean Note; Wagner, Paul Augnian. Francisco Spetrino conducted. This was the first American appearance of Messrs. Note and Spetrino.

GRAND (Geo. W. Sammis, mgr.)—"The Gay Musician" 16-21. Nance O'Neil did well 9-14. Coming, Joe Weber's Co.

MAJESTIC (W. C. Bridky, mgr.)—Wright Lorimer 16-28, in "The Shepherd King." "The Old Homestead" played to good houses.

CRESCENT (Percy G. Williams, mgr.)—The Crescent Stock Co. offers this week "The Regeneration." The tale of experiences along the Bowery is excellently portrayed. Edward Mackay, as Owen Conway, leader of an East Side gang, did well. Laura Lang lends charm to the play as a settlement worker. Miss Lang has been seen in a number of different characters since the opening of the Crescent, in September, all of which she has portrayed with ease and grace. She has become very popular in Brooklyn. "Secret Service" drew well last week. Next week, "The Gilded Fool."

PARK.—This house, the home of the Spooner Stock Co., was destroyed by fire 12. The interior of the building is a wreck. Ben F. Wilson and Jessie McAlister, who headed the company, have signed with the Crescent Stock Co. Boyd Nolan has signed with the Gotham Stock, and Harold Kennedy has signed with Wilton Lackaye. Mrs. Spooner has not as yet decided what her plans for the future will be. A full account of the fire appears in another column of this issue.

BIJOU (Jas. Hyde, mgr.)—Joe Welch, in "The Peddler," 16 and week. "Through Death Valley" played to big houses 9-14. Next, "Opium Smugglers of 'Frisco."

COLUMBIA (Chas. Seymour, mgr.)—Moving pictures and vaudeville.

ORPHEUM (Percy G. Williams, mgr.)—Current: Mabel Hite and Mike Donlin, "The Submarine," Ryan and Richfield, Fred Ray's Players, Eight Josetti Family, Nichols Sisters, Hawthorne and Burt, Elite Musical Four, the Brittons, and the vitagraph.

KEENEY'S (Geo. Sloane, mgr.)—Stella Mayhew heads the bill 16-21. Others: "Polly Pickle's Pets in Petland," Wilke and Watson, Dillon Bros., Irving Jones, Three Astrelia Sisters and Duval, Batty's Bears, Wahlund Tekla Troupe, and Keeneyscope.

FULTON (Wm. Trimborn, mgr.)—A big bill 16 and week, with Willie Hoppe, the billiardist; Jamie McCree, Jolly John Larkins, George Wilson, Davis-Gledhill Trio, Chas. Barnold's dogs, Daisy Lloyd, Musical Simpsons, Murphy and Willard, and Morriscope.

STAR (John P. Murphy, mgr.)—Rice & Barton's Big Gaiety Co., with Chas. Barton, this week. Daisy Harcourt is the extra attraction. Gay Masqueraders went big 9-14. Clark's Runaway Girls 23-28.

OLYMPIC (John Jacques, mgr.)—Blue Ribbon Girls 16-21, with Hilda Carle and Red Raven Cadets.

TELLER'S BROADWAY (Leo C. Teller, lessee).—"The Round Up" this week. Good houses last week, with Frank Daniels. Next, "The Great Divide."

FOLLY (Henry Kurtzman, mgr.)—"The Life of An Actress" this week. Business last week, with "The Ninety and Nine," was good. "The Outlaw's Christmas" next.

GAYETY (Jas. Clark, mgr.)—Gay Masqueraders this week. The olio: The Piriscoffis, Thomas Potter Dunn, the Eugene Trio, Harry Emerson, and Donovan and Arnold. Harry Bryant's Extravaganza last week.

Deaths in the Profession

Mrs. Josefa Neilson Osborn, the well known dressmaker, and one-time theatre manager, died on Nov. 11, at her home, No. 2 Rutherford Place, New York City, from appendicitis. Mrs. Osborn was stricken with appendicitis two weeks ago, and had submitted to an operation. She was thought to be on the road to recovery when her heart failed, and she died suddenly. Mrs. Osborn, who was Josefa Neilson, was married to Robert A. Osborn, a wine merchant, in 1888. In 1894 Mr. Osborn's business suffered reverses, and his wife interested herself in dressmaking. She leased Berkeley Lyceum, New York City, in 1902, renamed it Mrs. Osborn's Playhouse, and opened it with a musical piece, called "Tommy Rot," on Oct. 21, 1902. Norma L. Monro was interested with Mrs. Osborn in the little theatre. The venture was unprofitable, and the theatre was closed by Mrs. Osborn on Nov. 27, 1902, five weeks after it was opened.

E. C. Stetson, actor, author and manager, died Friday night, Nov. 6, at the home of his nephew, Edward Stetson, 483 Ridgewood Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Stetson was born in Mamaroneck, N. Y., in 1835, and was identified with the stage for more than fifty years. He began his career at the Old Bowery Theatre in 1854, and rose rapidly to be a successful tragedian and theatrical manager. He supported Edwin Booth in Shakespearean dramas, and later starred in them throughout the United States and Canada. In the early '80s he married Hannah May Ingham, an actress, who died suddenly while at the Murray Hill Theatre, New York City, Jan. 23, 1900. After the death of his wife Mr. Stetson abandoned acting, and devoted himself to his managerial duties. Interment was in Arlington, N. J.

Lorraine Dreux, a leading lady, and at one time leading woman for Beerbohm Tree, died Nov. 12, in Bellevue Hospital, New York City, from pneumonia. She was taken ill some time ago, but her condition did not become known to her friends until Friday, Nov. 6, when the Actors' Fund was notified and she was taken to Bellevue. Jean Keller, a theatrical manager, who lives at 228 West Thirty-ninth Street, New York City, who had known Miss Dreux years ago, met her on the street, Nov. 6, when she was weak with illness, and arranged for her removal to the hospital. Miss Dreux was a daughter of Colonel John Dreux, a Texas ranchman; was educated in England, and there joined the Beerbohm Tree Co. Later she returned to America, and played leading parts, mostly in stock companies, although she was with William Gillette, in "Too Much Johnson," and in several other Frohman productions. For a long time she headed stock companies at the Columbia and the Thirty-first Street Opera House, Chicago, Ill., and season of 1906-07, she played sixteen weeks in the Poli Stock, at Worcester, Mass. Recently she played a few weeks in a stock at Rochester, N. Y. Funeral services were held at the Campbell Burial Company's establishment, 241 West Twenty-third Street, New York City, and Rev. Dr. Houghton, of the Little Church Around the Corner, performed the religious ceremonies. The interment followed at Evergreens Cemetery. Among those at the funeral, besides Jean Keller, were: Paul Scott, the agent; Mrs. Carroll Daly and Edith Elton.

Robert Sivada, an acrobat, died at the Crown and Dove Hotel, Bristol, Eng., Oct. 26, from the bursting of a blood vessel, aged sixty-eight years. His name in real life was Robert Brown, and he was born in Bristol, Eng. Mr. Sivada was one of the greatest acrobats the world ever produced. He worked for eighteen years for one master, Hengler's Circus, and was also with Circus Renz, Germany, and Lord George Sanger's Show for nine years. He did principal leaping over six elephants. Mr. Sivada came over to America for Gus Hill, in 1896. Considerable property and $80,000 in money will be divided between his three children: (Mlle. Ani) Mrs. Harry Hill, Florizell, now in India, and Charles Sivada, formerly with Karno. Last Summer he lived with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill at their farm at Smithtown, L. I., N. Y., returning to England last Fall. The remains will be buried alongside those of his wife at Greenbank Cemetery, Bristol, Eng. He belonged to the V. A. F. and Music Hall Railway Association.

Arthur J. Coulter, a banjoist, died in Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 1, from heart disease, aged thirty years. He was one of the best banjoists in the business. He is survived by his wife, Florence Coulter, and his parents, John and Rose Coulter.

George Potter, formerly electrician of the old Auditorium and Grand Opera House, Springfield, Mass., was drowned in Lake Wickaboag, West Brookfield, Wednesday, Nov. 12, by the upsetting of a boat while he was on a fishing party with friends. He is survived by his mother and a brother, Adrian L. Potter, both of Springfield.

Frank F. Wood, aged thirty-nine years, said to have been an actor, was taken to Roosevelt Hospital Nov. 13, from No. 221 West Forty-third Street. He died early the next morning. He had shot himself in the right side of his head. Wood had married an actress, but they separated. Mrs. Wood lives in Baltimore. Mrs. Wood's sister, who lives with her, said they heard twice a week from Wood. About seven months ago Wood left Baltimore for this city and took a room in the Forty-third Street house, kept by Mrs. Carley Simmons. Recently he had a minor position at the Hippodrome.

Benjamin Fish, for many years the treasurer of the Barnum Show and the personal representative of the late P. T. Barnum, dropped dead on the street in Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 12, while walking from the Barnum office to his home on Cottage Street, a distance of half a mile. He was seventy-five years of age. Mr. Fish was an Englishman, born in Birmingham, and was with Barnum from the time the showman introduced Tom Thumb to the English courts. He was the last of the three original executors of the estate of P. T. Barnum, and had full charge of the estate. Mr. Fish had personal charge of the affairs of the widow of the showman, now Baroness d'Orgianna, of Paris, who, under the will of her first husband, receives an annuity of $40,000 a year. Mr. Fish's death was due to a sudden attack of heart failure. He is survived by his widow, two sons, Thomas and Harold, the latter an agent for the Barnum heirs, and one daughter, Annie Fish. Interment was 10, in a plot almost facing that occupied by the late showman and Gen. Tom Thumb, the midget, in Mountain Grove Cemetery, Bridgeport.

H. H. Simmonds, for many years manager of the Old Temple Opera House, Elizabeth, N. J., and later the Lyceum Theatre, in that city, died in Boston, Mass., Nov. 15. He at one time conducted a roller skating rink in Elizabeth, which was after remodeled into the Temple Opera House. It was destroyed by fire years ago. Mr. Simmonds had also been manager of the Trenton Opera House. At the time of his death he was one of the circulation agents for the Curtis Publishing Co., of Philadelphia.

Walter Westcott, a theatrical manager, aged thirty-five years, died in Denver, Col., Nov. 14. Last Summer he had charge of the Monitor and Merrimac exhibition at Luna Park, Coney Island, N. Y.

W. F. Judge, one of the Maxsmith Duo, whose name in private life was W. F. Gallagher, died from pneumonia, Wednesday, Nov. 11. He is survived by his father, mother and one son.

Mabel Taliaferro Undergoes Operation.

Mabel Taliaferro, playing "Polly of the Circus," was taken suddenly ill during the concluding performance at the Academy, Baltimore, Md., Saturday evening, Nov. 14, and Sunday afternoon she was operated upon for appendicitis. Dr. Frank Martin, who performed the operation, said he looked for her early recovery.

Frederic Thompson has arranged to have Miss Taliaferro's sister, Edith, who is starring in the same company in the same play, take Mabel's place in the first company. Edith Taliaferro's part in the second company will be played by her understudy, Mabel Kipp. Mr. Thompson expects to stay in Baltimore until his wife is able to journey to New York.

Goodwin in "Cameo Kirby."

Liebler & Co. presented Nat C. Goodwin at the Great Southern Theatre, Columbus, O., evening of Nov. 16, in "Cameo Kirby," a play of Louisiana life of eighty years ago, by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson.

Mr. Goodwin acted a Mississippi River gambler. His supporting company includes Edward Harrigan, Maude Fealy, James Lackaye and Jeffreys Lewis. There was warm praise for the star and his support, and the play was voted a success.

"The Third Degree" Produced.

Henry B. Harris produced, in the Apollo Theatre, Atlantic City, N. J., Monday evening, Nov. 16, Charles Klein's new four act play, "The Third Degree." Edmund Breese, Helen Wate, Wallace Eddinger, Catherine Countiss and John Flood are principals in the cast, and all were warmly commended for fine work. The play made an excellent impression.

Brooklyn Academy Dedicated.

Saturday night, Nov. 14, was a great night for Brooklyn. The new Academy of Music was then devoted for the first time to the purpose for which it was built—the production of grand opera. The Metropolitan company gave the opening performance of its season, with Gounod's "Faust" as the bill.

John E. Kellerd for "The Vampire."

John E. Kellerd has been engaged by the Shuberts to play the title role in the metaphysical drama, "The Vampire," by Edgar Allan Woolf and George Sylvester Viereck.

World of Players.

MR. AND MRS. ARCHIE ROYER are rejoicing in the birth of a son, born to Mrs. Royer in London, Eng., on Nov. 10.

JOSEPH J. DUNN, a youth of eighteen, whose father, John Dunn, is an actor, committed suicide on Nov. 10, in New York City, by shooting himself in the presence of his wife. He had been married only a month, and it is said that his act was due to despondency owing to the girl's poor health.

FRANCIS GURNEY SMITH, member of a wealthy family of Orange, N. J., announced last week that he was married, Aug. 10, to Elaine Van Selover, of Oswego, N. Y., formerly a member of one of the "Floradora" sextets. A justice of the peace in Jersey City officiated.

THE MELNOTTES will close with John A. Himmelein's Imperial Stock Co. Nov. 21, after a five years' engagement with that company.

LILLIAN ROSS, very clever child actress, is shortly going on tour in a play written especially for her, called "A Child of the Green Mountains." It will be produced on a lavish scale. The young Miss, while young in years (14), is old in stage experience, having played important roles in support of Annie Russell and Viola Allen.

KITTIE LANGLEY WRITES: "I was granted a divorce from Fred Langley at Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 14. The court also awarded me the children, and permits me to resume my maiden name, Catherine Craigen."

CHRIS. L. NAUMAN, who for the past four years was treasurer for the Al. H. Martin Co., is now in the box office at the Majestic, Jersey City, N. J.

GEO. H. BELL wishes to inform his friends that he is an inmate of the State Sanitarium, Milledgeville, Ga.

JOHN E. COARY, formerly of "Skipped by the Light of the Moon" Co., called at THE CLIPPER office last week and stated that Harry Burnham, principal comedian of that company, underwent an operation for appendicitis at Roosevelt Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 11. Mr. Coary is now with "Follies of New York" Co.

IRENE DE VAUX, who has been playing in repertory and vaudeville the past two years, writes: "I met with a very serious accident three weeks ago, while driving near Johnstown, Pa., when my horse became frightened and ran away, overturning the buggy. I had my hip dislocated, and was very badly bruised. I am on the road to recovery, but will not go on road till after the holidays, when I will take my own company on the road. Would like to hear from friends, care of General Delivery, Johnstown, Pa."

JACK MILLNER AND HOWARD POWERS, with the members of their "Sapho" Co., were banqueted by friends in Sterling, Ill. A supper was served in the Randolph House after the performance, and many pleasant hours was the result.

A. G. DELAMATER writes: "Owing to the financial success of 'Graustark,' both in the cities and on the one night stands, we have decided to organize a third company, to open about Nov. 16. In every city where the Eastern company has appeared, it has been found necessary, by Wednesday, to place the orchestra on the stage and to arrange for special matinees to accommodate the crowd, and on the one night stands, in almost every instance, we have broken the season's record for receipts for dramatic attractions. During my visit to Chicago I arranged with Mr. McCutcheon for the dramatic rights for 'Beverly of Graustark,' and will present same in the first class houses, with a well known star in the title role next season."

ROSTER of Burgner & Alton's Stock Co.: Thos. Alton, Chas. C. Burgner, J. Ross Wilson, Ed. Hansford, J. P. Day, W. C. Swartwood, A. D. Wilson, J. H. Little, A. T. Adams, J. Henry King, Miles A. Reed, Geo. W. Craven, Hal Denton, John Beran, Nellie Denton, May Little, Leila Neilson, Della White, Mrs. C. C. Burgner, Edith Stafford, Rose Adams, Kate Morris and Henrietta Wilson. The company carries Prof. Beran's Red Devil Concert Band and Orchestra.

FRANK LEO reports meeting with success in the role of Judge Butler, over the Southern circuit, with the new Dixon play, "The Traitor," which has been, he writes, very successful since its premiere. Mr. Leo also appears as the Federal Judge in the great trial scene.

NOTES from the Rita Stock Co.—We are in our fifth week playing a repertory of old reliable plays, and are giving the best of satisfaction. We have offers of return dates in each town we have played. The company includes: J. A. McCarty, manager; Dorothea Hurley, leads; Rose Millen and Little Rita. THE OLD RELIABLE is a welcome visitor each week.

EDD. RUSSELL, agent for Mehoney Bros. Stock Co., writes: "Business has been fine and the outlook is very good, as everything points to an exceptionally prosperous season."

J. H. REMICK & CO. have bought the Schiller Music Pub. Co. catalogue, and in future will handle all their music.

IRVING SPELLMAN has written a new song, entitled "My Daisy Little Jewess," and will sing the same in vaudeville in New York and vicinity.

RENTZ-SANTLEY CO. (Eastern).
Murray Hill Theatre, New York, Nov. 16.

The company with the oldest title, has come again, with a new company, which has been giving the best of satisfaction thus far this season. "The Married Widow; or, Three Weeks of a Soul Kiss," is the title of the first part, by Matt Woodward, who has created several novel characters, and given those we are familiar with some interesting surroundings. The familiar strains of the popular "Merry Widow" are used to some extent. Olga Orloff appeared Monday, as Phonia, a married widow, and Prince Dandelion was impersonated by Beattie Evans, a charming English performer, who made her first American appearance this season, and has taken the principal boy part upon her arrival. She sang and acted well. Ben Ross had to take care of the Hebrew comedy, and was funny as a waiter-detective; Charles H. Kenny was cast as Corporal Mix, who changed places with General Sworcoff, played by Harry O. Prince; Isabel Miller was a lively Princess, and Florence Virginia was supposed to be the inventor of the fountain of love; Lizzie Pacey appeared as a lively dancer; Fred Evans made up as a French corporal, full of love for all the girls; Charles Weber appeared as a waiter. "The Maxim Girls," "All the Boys Look Good to Me," by Lizzie Pacey; "Are You Sincere?" by Beattie Evans; "Carisima," sung by Olga Orloff; "Weeping Widows," "Cuddling," "The Parisian Soul Kiss" and "The Love Waltz" were all encored. The costumes selected for the various productions were strictly up-to-date, including a very showy sheath gown.

The olio presented Sinclair's Four Dainty English Dancing Dolls, a quartette of petite singers and dancers, who charmed with their attractive appearance and clever style. Chas. D. Weber was seen in his comedy automobile juggling act, combining excellent comedy with accurate manipulation of the various articles. Trix and Trixie presented a comedy musical act, playing on various musical instruments, including a novel pipaphone, a one string violin with novel horn attachment. Throughout, Trix submitted good comedy, ably assisted by his smiling partner, who was also seen in a lively dance for a finish. Prince and Virginia, character singers, showed to advantage in their comedy conversation, and their Dutch act made a big hit. Miss Virginia is the owner of a good voice, which blends harmoniously with the clarion-like notes of Harry Prince. Ayesha Hara presented the dance of the Seven Veils, with appropriate music. Ben Ross sang a few clever parodies on popular songs.

"The Girl With the Golden Vest" gave Olga Orloff an opportunity to appear in tights as a dashing New Yorker, on a visit to the Rockies. Beattie Evans was the train robber; Isabel Miller was the "Girl;" Florence Virginia, an Indian maiden; Lizzie Pacey, a broncho buster; Charles H. Kenny, a scout; Harry O. Prince, the sheriff; Ben Ross, a Hebrew explorer; Fred Evans, a Spanish bull fighter, and Charles Weber, an Indian. "Rosey Ramblers," "My Rainbow," by Miss Virginia; a rope dance, by the four dollies; Spanish song, by Beattie Evans, and a bull fight filled the time agreeably. Olga Orloff was applauded for her singing of "The Door of Hope." Fred N. Strauss is business manager; George Leavitt, assistant business manager; Emil Catalano, musical director.

THE BROADWAY GAIETY GIRLS.
Miner's Bowery Theatre, N. Y., Nov. 16.

James H. Curtin's Company is on the Bowery this week. "A Trip Through India" is the burlesque, in two acts, with magnificent costumes and scenic effects. Dorothy Collins appeared in white tights as the Prince of Tibet; Alma Burman was the princess, and Goldie Burman, a countess. Eugene Rogers was a stately Minister of State, and later an excitable Frenchman. Ed. Manny and Mike J. Kelly were the German and Irish sailors, who were induced to impersonate the queen and the king, respectively, with ludicrous effect. The musical numbers in the first act included: "Rainbow," "Mandy Lane," "Lou Lou," "I Want Some One to Call Me Dearie," operatic quartette and a lively College boy finish.

The olio had Madia Dupree, in a gingery character singing act with dance; Sherman and Lucen, comedy acrobats, with the table and chairs; the Dancing Gaffney Girls, featuring Russian dancing in approved style; Fanean Felix and Claxton, especially engaged to produce their musical comedy act, playing brass principally, with the corpulent female player furnishing good comedy back talk; the Burman Sisters, as the female reporters, in a lively singing number.

The second act took place in the palace of the Idol. Eugene Rogers was the Great Llama. The numbers were: "A Son of the Desert," by Eugene Rogers; "My Arabian Queen," "Maybe You Would," "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," and a showy tableau number in conclusion.

THE DUCKLINGS (Western).
Miner's Eighth Avenue Theatre, New York City, Nov. 16.

The Ducklings are playing their first engagement of the season at this house, and opened to S. R. O. attendance on the above date. This organization is unusually well supplied with clever comedians, good material in the burlesques, attractive women and a lively, shapely chorus. The many musical numbers, attractively staged, are pleasing, and the scenic effects are good. Wm. J. McIntyre, J. Halley, Chas. Boyle, Louie Dacre, Clare Lewis and Lillie George do good work in the burlesques. In the olio, Lillie George and Charles Boyle appear in a comedy act that draws laughs; the Six Merry Bergs do a turn that is full of action and pleases; Halley and McKinnon do some clever black face work; Louie Dacre's vivacity and manner of getting the points of her songs across the footlights wins her the favor of the audience.

THE MERRY BURLESQUERS (Western).
London Theatre, New York, Nov. 16.

This company opened to crowded houses Monday afternoon and evening. "The Fixer" was a lively burlesque, and the company included: Harry Fox, John Price, Ned Dandy, Bob Francisco, Billy Rush, Leroy Francisco, L. H. Boughton, Dora De Vere, Florie Millership, Belle Wilton and Lillie Millership.

Specialties were presented by the Millership Sisters, the Two Franciscos, comedy conjurers; the Busch De Vere Trio, in their novelty singing act, with illustrations.

E. M. GOTTHOLD, who has been with the Rentz-Santley Co. this season, will close with that show in Philadelphia, Nov. 28. Mr. Gottlold is an old time theatrical man. He was for many years Corse Payton's manager.

JAMES TEN BROOK will shortly join the Uncle Sam's Belles Co., at Milwaukee.

JACK SIMONDS, of the Columbia Four, now with the Fay Foster Co., and Mayne Pratt, a chorus girl with that organization, were married on the stage of the Star Theatre, Cleveland, O., after the evening performance, Nov. 12.

GEO. A. BARRETT has joined the Tiger Lilies Co., as musical director, replacing Harry O. Walker.

Hiland, Pittsburg, Under New Management.
New Hiland Burlesque Co.

The new Hiland Stock Burlesque Co., under the capable management of Chas. Gramlich, opened last week at the Hiland Theatre, Pittsburg, presenting two very laughable burlettas. The opening part, called "Running for Judge," is a very funny piece, and was well rendered. Chas. Gramlich, as the Judge, kept the house in a continuous uproar by his funny tactics in running a court. Austin Walsh, as a lawyer, deserves mention, and played his role in a very humorous manner. Several good songs were rendered by Jeanette Dupre and Helena Hall. The costumes were pretty, and the work of the large chorus was pleasing.

The olio had several high class acts, including Jeanette Dupree, in songs and dances; Austin Walsh, in monologue; Phillips and Gordon, in "Casey's Visit." Belle Gordon is a very pleasing dancer and sweet singer, and her work was well received, as was Harry Phillips. The second part was a melange of fun from start to finish, in which Helena Hall, Jeanette Dupre, Chas. Gramlich, Austin Walsh and Harry Phillips were seen to advantage. Jeanette Dupre was encored several times, and Harry Phillips made a decided hit. The large audience could not get enough of "My Sweet," which was sung in a pleasing manner by Helena Hall. Things are moving nicely for this company, and Mr. Gramlich promises the public the best to be had in this line.

CLARK'S RUNAWAY GIRLS CO. (Eastern).
Olympic Theatre, New York City, Nov. 16.

This excellent company, headed by Frank Damsel, began a week's engagement before a well filled house. The opening satire, called "The Sultan's Dilemma," which has been fully reviewed in these columns recently, made a big hit. The vaudeville portion of the programme included: Perry and Elliott, Estelle Rose, Famous Livingstons, Stone and Farr, Graham and Randall, and the Bowery Comedy Quartette. The second act of "The Sultan's Dilemma" closed the show in good order.

CHARLES E. TAYLOR has taken the management of the Tiger Lilies Co.

Monastery, 107 W. 45th Street, N. Y. City.

Friar Winchell Smith was selected as the guest of honor at the Friars' fortnightly supper on Saturday, Nov. 14. The banquet-room of the handsome clubhouse was crowded, despite the inclement weather. The guest was "introduced" by Friar George Reban, who, in a witty speech, told of Mr. Smith's early days in Hartford, Conn. The Abbot, Charles Emerson Cook, then called upon the guest of the evening, and the actor-playwright responded in a charming manner. Other speeches were made by William Gillette, Edwin Arden, Paul Armstrong and A. Toxen Worm. Friar Gus Edwards entertained the "bunch" with his own musical compositions.

The next guest to be given a banquet will be Oscar Hammerstein. The date selected is Sunday evening, Dec. 13, at 6.30, at the Hotel Astor. The Abbot has appointed the following committee:

Harry Doel Parker, chairman; B. F. Roeder, John Pollock, Edward Margolies, Harry D. Kline, Er Lawshe, Van Ness Harwood, A. L. Jacobs, Max Lang Meyers, Gus Edwards, Harry Lee, Ryan Walker, John W. Rumsey, Harry Leonhardt, Morris Gest, Geo. T. Pusey, Geo. Henry Payne, Edward Rascovar, Leon Berg.

The menu card will be designed by Friar Ryan Walker, the famous cartoonist.

"The Hidden Treasure."—The opening scene shows the interior of a Spanish wayside inn, where some brigands are discussing the incidents of their last camp upon the king's highway. Don Jose de Sanchez, a poor but brave young nobleman, alights from his steed to refresh himself and partake of the hospitality of the innkeeper's cheer. The leader of the brigands, who is inclined to be quarrelsome, resents the presence of Don Jose, and a fight is narrowly averted by the entrance of a servant bearing a message from Maratana, the ladylove of our handsome hero, asking him to accompany her on the following day to her father's castle, where the consent of her proud and haughty parents to their marriage must be obtained. Delighted at the prospect of a happy consummation of his suit, Don Jose hastily departs from the inn and rides away. Near this wayside inn resides an old miser, and the brigands pounce upon him and demand to know where he has hidden his gold. In desperation the poor wretch breaks from their midst and runs screaming toward the highway. Don Jose and his ladylove, together with two servants, are passing on their journey, and seeing the fleeing miser, Don Jose dismounts from his horse and rescues him. The old man is carefully lifted upon the back of one of the horses and conveyed to the nearest inn. Here, realizing that he is dying and grateful to his defenders, the miser dictates his will, leaving the hidden treasure to Don Jose, and describing the place where it is located. Then, sinking into unconsciousness, he soon passes away. Proceeding to the castle Don Jose delivers his fair charge, the lovely Maratana, into her father's arms. He then asks her parent's consent to their marriage, which is refused. Producing the miser's will, he tells the father of the great treasure, now his. The nobleman finally gives his consent to his daughter's marriage if Don Jose can prove his right to aspire so high. How he secured the miser's boat and entered the dark and mysterious cave of the underground river; how the robbers followed and attacked him in the depths of the cavern; how, in a brilliant sword fight, he overcame his foes, and succeeded in unearthing, single-handed, the great treasure; how he conveyed it to the castle of his prospective father-in-law and received as his reward the hand of the beautiful Maratana, are all vividly shown.

New Edison Films.

"Colonial Virginia" (Historical).—A graphic tracing of famous scenes and incidents connected with the founding of Jamestown and early life in Virginia. Scenes we have all pictured in our minds since school days are made real in this film: The Landing of the Colonists, the Indians' Oyster Roast, Arrival of Shipload of Marriageable English Maidens, the First Legislative Assembly, the Burning of Jamestown, the Introduction of Tobacco to Sir Walter Raleigh and to England, and finally a Typical Colonial Ball.

"The New Stenographer" (Comedy).—The theatrical firm of Joy & Hope advertise for a stenographer. The new stenographer is a "peach." But there is a Mrs. Joy, and she is "wise." This is the material from which issues a series of side-splitting situations in which the wit of Mrs. Joy annihilates the deceptive arts of Messrs. Joy & Hope.

The Star, New York, for Moving Pictures.

Wm. Fox, well known moving picture manager, has secured a lease of the Star Theatre, One Hundred and Seventh Street and Lexington Avenue, New York City, for a moving picture and vaudeville theatre, in conjunction with the Dewey and Gotham Theatres. The admission will be five and ten cents to all parts of the house. The seating capacity is 1,800.

New Theatre in Dubuque, Ia.

The Royal, the new moving picture theatre which Manager Jake Rosenthal opened at the corner of Fourteenth and Clay Streets, Dubuque, Ia., Saturday evening, Nov. 7, is said to be one of the prettiest little family theatres in the city. The entrance is done in pale green and white, and the several figures, life-size, add to the attractiveness of the place. The interior is finished in light shades, the color scheme being excellent. Theatre chairs have been placed in the theatre, and business at the Royal started off with a rush.

Theatrical Mechanical Association.

Notes From New York Lodge, No. 1.

The annual benefit will take place at the Academy of Music, Sunday evening, Jan. 3, 1909. The committee has taken into consideration that by engaging the Academy of Music this year, the lodge would save upwards of $800 in the rent.

There will be no tickets mailed to members this year, because of so many complaints from members that they do not receive them. The committee will be in session from now on until the benefit, at 1512 Broadway, the T. P. U. office, every Sunday from 2 o'clock to 5 P. M., where they will be prepared to fill all orders for tickets (which we trust will be large).

The question was argued at great length by the committee, and the prevailing opinion seemed to be that prizes were a great incentive to ticket selling, therefore it was determined to offer the following: First prize, valued at $75, for selling $200 worth or more; second prize, valued at $50, for selling $150 worth or more; third prize, valued at $25, for selling $100 worth or more, and all members selling $25 worth or more receive a prize badge.

Last year the journal netted a profit of something like $1,000, and we feel certain that with a little effort on the part of everybody, that this can be doubled. There is no doubt that there is not one of us whose trade and custom is not valuable to some merchant, if the brothers will go and see these merchants that they do business with, and ask them to insert an advertisement in our programme, especially with the prestige of the T. M. A. to back up the argument, there should be no trouble for each member to bring in at least one or two advertisements. In addition the committee has decided to give all members ten per cent. commission on all "ads." brought in, exclusive of the one dollar personal cards.

The journal committee have only one object in view, that is to make this feature pay all expenses of the benefit, and leave no stone unturned leading to that end.

With Brother Curtin at the head of the talent committee, means the greatest bill of vaudeville stars ever seen at a benefit in this city.

G. Y. ANDERSON AND A. M. BRADFIELD, of "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" Co., joined Sioux City Lodge, Oct. 25. Pauline Flournoy, of La Crosse Lodge, No. 52, was a guest at the session.

Trouble at the Dan McAvoy Benefit.

A benefit performance which was announced for Dan McAvoy, at the Majestic Theatre, New York City, Sunday evening, Nov. 15, ended in trouble, and the people in the audience demanded their money back.

A great list of stars was announced to appear, but Cliff Gordon and Dorothy Morton were the only ones to put in an appearance, and when they had finished and some inferior acts were tried out, the audience demanded its money back. Lee Shubert finally patched affairs up. The benefit is believed to have been a loss.

Stone Leases Columbia, Brooklyn.

The lease of the Columbia Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., has been purchased by Mark L. Stone, and he will conduct the place as a vaudeville house at popular prices. The new policy was inaugurated Nov. 15. It is said that the Columbia will be largely used for the trying out of vaudeville for higher priced houses.

Mrs. Potter for Vaudeville.

Advices from London, Eng., state that Mrs. Cora Urquhart Potter has been engaged to appear in vaudeville in the United States for an eight weeks' engagement. She expects to appear in New York Jan. 4.

George Fuller Golden Must Return to Saranac.

George Fuller Golden will not head the bill at the Fulton Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., this week, as announced on the advance billing. His physician has ordered him to return to Saranac Lake at once.

OUR CHICAGO LETTER.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

Western Bureau of the New York Clipper, 505 Ashland Block, Randolph and Clark Streets.

NOV. 14.

Business has shown a marked improvement during the past fortnight. New attractions for the week of Nov. 15 include: David Warfield, in "A Grand Army Man," at the Garrick; "Algeria," at the Chicago 16, with "The Geisha," matinee and night, 15, by the Stewart Opera Co.; Mantell, in change of repertoire, at the Grand; Wm. H. Turner, in "The Governor and the Boss," at the Great Northern; "Way Down East," at McVicker's, with the usual changes at the other Loop and outlying houses. Cold, clear, crisp weather this last week has assisted very materially in filling the houses, and nearly every box office in town is feeling the result.

ILLINOIS (Will J. Davis, mgr.)—Maude Adams continues to capacity in "What Every Woman Knows," with Richard Bennett making one of the hits of his career as John Shand, the man who makes the audience laugh so much because he can't see anything in life to laugh at. The other members of the company are all good. "The Follies of 1908" 22.

POWERS' (Harry J. Powers, mgr.)—Edgar Selwyn, in "Pierre of the Plains," has had the business this week, and the outlook for the second and last week is excellent. The local press has been almost unanimous in its praise for the acting of the star and his support. Francis Wilson, in "When Knights Were Bold," 23.

GARRICK (Herbert C. Duce, mgr.)—Mme. Nazimova has had a succession of excellent houses during the three weeks she has been here, and has become a great favorite, giving pleasing performances of the five different types which she portrayed. This week she has appeared in "Comtesse Coquette" and "The Comet," and Randolph Street was lined with vehicles at every performance. David Warfield returns 16 for a run, opening in "The Grand Army Man," with "The Music Master" to follow.

AUDITORIUM (Millward Adams, mgr.)—Richard Carle, in "Mary's Lamb," has had full and appreciative houses for the past fortnight, and will stay with us until 28. Andrew Mack 29.

COLONIAL (George W. Lederer, mgr.)—George M. Cohan, in "The Yankee Prince," closes 28, to give way to "The American Idea," 29. During the last nights of the run, Mr. Cohan has been conducting the orchestra between the acts, presenting the music from the forthcoming attraction, which has been cheartily applauded, and which makes a very pretty advertising dodge, appreciated by all. "The American Idea" is booked to run through the holiday season.

SCHUBERT (Ed. J. Sullivan, mgr.)—Fritzi Scheff starts her seventh and last week, 16, and the success of "The Prima Donna" has been second to none which has played this house, in point of receipts. Elsie Janis, in "The Fair Co-Ed," follows 23, with a supporting company, including: Arthur Stanford, Sydney Jarvis, Edgar Halstead, H. David Todd, Lionel Walsh, James Reaney, Donald McLaren, Harry Clarke, Leavitt Hines, Stewart Belknap, Inez Bauer, Rose Winter, Marion Mills, Eleanor Pendleton, and a large and handsome chorus. There will be no Sunday evening performances during the run.

GARDEN (Thomas J. Noonan, mgr.)—This house will positively open Saturday evening, 21, so says Manager Noonan, in spite of the fact that the scaffolding is still up, and it doesn't seem possible to get ready in time. In the meantime the company, which will present "A Winning Miss," is hard at work rehearsing the natural defects which showed up during the preliminary "canter" at South Bend, last week, and when the house is ready, the company will be in excellent shape.

MCVICKER'S (George C. Warren, mgr.)—Guy Standing and Theodore Roberts have played to capacity in "The Right of Way," during their two weeks' sojourn, and in many ways the company is an improvement on that of last year. The twin stars give excellent performances, and May Buckley and the others all give fine support. "Way Down East" will be here for Thanksgiving, opening 25. Denman Thompson, in "The Old Homestead," follows.

GRAND (Harry Askin, mgr.)—Robert Mantell opened 9, very auspiciously, presenting for the first time in this city, "Louis XI," the adaptation from Casimir Delavigne's historical drama, used by the late Henry Irving, and in which Mr. Mantell made his first appearance the previous week, in St. Louis. Great praise is due the star and Mr. Brady, his manager, for the manner in which the play has been staged and the manner in which it has been rehearsed, there being the same exhibition of care regarding detail which has marked his previous productions. The play was repeated 10 and 11; "The Merchant of Venice" matinee of 11, "Hamlet" at night, "Othello" 12, "Macbeth" 13, "Romeo and Juliet" matinee of 14. The engagement will run three weeks. The cast of "Louis XI": Louis XI, Robert Mantell; Tristan L'Ermite, George Stillwell; Richard, Edward Lowers; Officer, Frederick Baldwin; Philip De Comines, Guy Lindsley; Jacques Coitier, Ethelbert Hales; Francois De Paule, George Turner; The Dauphin, Franklyn Hendrsen; Marcel, Oscar Pfefferle; Duc De Nemours, Fritz Leiber; Count De Dreux, Richard Drake; Oliver De Dain, Walter Campbell; Golden Fleece, Thomas Lear; First Guard, Henry James; Cardinal D'Alby, Charles Keane; Marie, Marie Booth Russell; Martha, Josephine McCallum; Jeanne, Nina Turner. Walker Whiteside, in "The Melting Pot," will return for special engagements, by request, Sunday evenings, 15, 22. Bertha Kalich, 30, in "Cora."

CHICAGO (George A. Kingsbury, mgr.)—Raymond Hitchcock, in "The Merry-Go-Round," closes his engagement to-night. "The Geisha," by the Stewart Opera Co., with Adele Oswald, a Chicago girl, will be seen matinee and night to-morrow, and the advance sale promises well. "Algeria," 16, with Harry Bulger, and a large company.

GREAT NORTHERN (Fred C. Eberts, mgr.)—"School Days" closed a very successful two weeks' engagement to-day. William H. Turner, a most promising character actor, comes 15, in "The Governor and the Boss," and the outlook is good, as he has always been very popular here. Ward and Vokes, in "The Promoters," 22.

PRINCESS (William Singer, mgr.)—The two hundred and fiftieth performance of "A Stubborn Cinderella" will occur 27, and capacity rules. The following Monday will complete the first six months of the run here, and there seems little reason to doubt that the charming musical comedy will be running at the expiration of the second six months. Sallie Fisher, Jack Barrymore and the others are still great favorites.

LA SALLE (Harry Singer, mgr.)—The burnishing hand of Ned Wayburn is noticeable in two new numbers, in "A Girl at the Helm," in "The Ghost of Ragdime," and "The Marriage Game," the latter being one of the cleverest things seen here in many a day. The piece needed just such touches as this, and Wayburn has surely outdone himself on the ghost number, which Cecil Lean sings, with the entire chorus backing him. Black draperies are lowered, so as to cover the entire scenic setting, and then the chorus in white comes on and does a ragtime dance, following which several variations are given, until about ten of them have been given, each being in response to an uproarious encore. "The Marriage Game" is sung by Miss Lilja, a stunning looking woman, with a pleasing voice, with a full chorus, the various members depicting a sort of "seven ages" in weddings, until the diamond wedding closes the number, a very pretty conceit. A new boat race effect has just been put on for the climax, which far surpasses the original idea. The fourth month is about to start.

WHITNEY (B. C. Whitney, mgr.)—The thirteenth week of "A Broken Idol" starts 15, with everything progressing smoothly, and the audiences laughing heartily. Much has been done since the start to improve this piece, and it looks more than ever like a long distance winner. Ilon Bergere is the only new member of the cast, and has been very successful as Marie De Beau.

COLLEGE (Charles B. Marvin, mgr.)—"The Heir to the Hoorah" has met with most decided approval this week, and the various members of the company have been at their best. Colin Campbell appeared as Lon Perry, the character he originated with Guy Bates Post in the original production. Blanche Crozier was a decided hit as the "maiden aunt." Madge Casey. "All On Account of Eliza" 16 and week, with Morris McHugh in the Louis Mann part, and Thais Magrane as the school-teacher. "The Two Orphans" 22.

BUSH (Edwin Thanhouser, mgr.)—The departure of Mr. McLarnie from this company, which is greatly to be regretted, leaves the character of Shylock, in "The Merchant of Venice," to Arthur Buchanan. Miss Keim will be the Portia, Mr. Allison, the Bassanio, and Mr. Feeley, the Antonio. "Raffles" 23.

PEOPLE'S (Charles B. Marvin, mgr.)—"Brown of Harvard" has had a good week, with Joe Tinker, the Cubs' shortstop, as the special feature, as Bud Hall, the coach, and the crowds have cheered him nightly, while Tinker has made a very successful debut as a Thespian. "The Heir to the Hoorah" 16, "All on Account of Eliza" 23.

MARLOWE (Charles B. Marvin, mgr.)—"Ranson's Folly" did a very good business this week, and the company gave a good account of itself. "Brown of Harvard" 16, "La Belle Marie" 23.

INTERNATIONAL (Ellis Glickman, mgr.)—"Lohengrin" was given a splendid performance this week by the two companies. "Carmen" week of 16.

MAJESTIC (Lyman B. Glover, mgr.)—Bill week of 16 includes: Frank Moulan and Maud Lillian Berri, William Thompson and company, Four Fords, De Faye Sisters, Martinette and Sylvester, Maurice Cooke, "That" Quartette, Armstrong and Verae, Frank Mostyn Kelley and company, Askeland, Dean and Price, Charles La Deaux, and the kinodrome.

HAYMARKET (William H. Newkirk, mgr.)—Bill week of 16 includes: The Palace Girls, Katie Barry, Marlo Trio, Farrell-Taylor Trio, Dixie Serenaders, Nonette, Charles and Fannie Van, Coyne and Tinlin, Frosto and Weyman, Lipman and Lewis, Cherokee Blanche and Musical Cowboy, and the kinodrome.

OLYMPIC (James J. Murdick, mgr.)—Bill week of 16 includes: Paradise Alley, "At the Sound of the Gong," McIntotie Twin Sisters and Smith, Leipzig, Leon Rogee, John and May Burke, Sibbon's cats, the Gibson Girls, and motion pictures.

ACADEMY (William Roche, mgr.)—Lillian Mortimer, in "A Girl's Best Friend," has had fine busines this week. Chuck Connors, in "From Broadway to the Bowery," 15; Joe Santley 22.

BIJOU (William Roche, mgr.)—"Panhandle Pete" this week did a fine business, and Clark Ross in the title role won many friends. "The End of the Trail" 15, "The Millionaire and the Policeman's Wife" 22.

CRITERION (John B. Hogan, mgr.)—Young Buffalo, in "The Sheriff of Angel's Gulch," drew well this week. Dave Genaro and Ray Bailey, in "Tony, the Bootblack," 15; "McFadden's Flats" 22.

COLUMBUS (Weber Bros., mgrs.)—Mildred Holland drew big houses this week when she appeared for the first time in this city as Aria, in "The Power Behind the Throne," and established herself a firm favorite at the first performance. The company is one of the best which has been seen at this theatre in a long time, and there is no doubt that the engagement will be a very prosperous one, with the possibility of Miss Holland playing an annual engagement here. "Frou Frou" week of 15.

ALHAMBRA (Weber Bros., mgrs.)—Chuck Connors, in "From Broadway to the Bowery," played to splendid business this week, and pleased. "The Millionaire and the Policeman's Wife" 15.

CALUMET (John T. Connors, mgr.)—"Sold Into Slavery" and Joe Hortiz, in "Fritz, the Wandering Musician," divided a very good week's business. "Yon Yonson" 15-18, "The Angel and the Ox" 19-21, "At the Old Cross Roads" 26-28.

STAR (T. J. Carmody, mgr.)—Bill week of 16 includes: Gallett's monkeys, Rawls and Von Kaufman, Merret and Love, Haight and Dean, Bessie Browning, Leonard and Louie, Genter and Gilmore, Flo Adler, Asher Samuels, and the kinodrome.

SCHINDLER'S (Ludwig Schindler, mgr.)—Bill week of 16 includes: Nelson, Hawkins and Gilbert, Goodwin Sisters, Chris Lane, Monahan and Sheehan, Chester and company, Ali Zada, and the motion pictures. Business is up to the top notch, and the bill very good.

NORTH AVENUE THEATRE.—Tetsuwari Japanese Troupe, Sophy Everette and company, Fleishman's Hungarian Orchestra, the Great Jarrow, Barry and Gray Co., Masqueria Sisters, and Acme Quarrette.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—The Great Martynne, Nichols and Smith, Burt E. Melburn, Musical Bensons, Monsulla and Russell, Hanlon and Walsh, and Nellie La Vere.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—Wincherman's bears and monkeys, Martin and Crouch, Lyceum Comedy Four, Bland and Jones, and Kohler and Victoria.

VIRGINIA THEATRE.—Ed. Dunkhorst and company, London Blunt, the McCarvers, and Elmore and Bartlett.

PERKIN THEATRE.—Cora Youngblood, Corson Sextette, Thalero's Pony and Dog Circus, Lindstrom and Anderson, Mexican Trio, Tim Owsley, and the Cassettas.

CRYSTAL THEATRE.—Colonial Trio, Carrie Scott and company, La Pearl and Bogart, Leon and Bertie Allen, Smiling Harris and company, and Imperial Trio.

PALAIS ROYAL THEATRE.—The Four Cates, Trio O-Lora, Shafter and Shafter, Walter Ross, and Fries Sisters.

PREMIER THEATRE.—Benton and McKenzie, Evelyn Bird, Banks and Glass, the Three Barneys, Doyle and Adams, and William Stanford.

GEM THEATRE.—Al. H. Delton, Leland and Lee, Rapier and Rapier, Jeannette Spencer, and Gem Stock Co.

IOLA THEATRE AND ZOO.—The Warricks, Johnson and Payne, Aimee Bernard, the Rapiers, Mlle. Fay and Big Otto's trained animals.

CHICAGO THEATRE.—Andy and Jennie Adams, F. J. Schneider, the Muehlners, and Ursula Nolan.

GRAND THEATRE (Chicago Heights, Ill.)—McCarthy and Major, Van Hoven, Stevens and Washburn, Stith and Stith, and Three Williams Sisters.

EUSON'S (Sid J. Euson, mgr.)—Irwin's Majestics played to bumper houses this week, and pleased greatly. Fred Irwin's Big Show comes 15, in "The Great White Way" and "Ladies' Day at the Actor's Club," with Murray Livingston and Harry Campbell in the lead. Manager Bennett and Gertie De Milt lead the choristers, which are a large and lively crowd. The olio will show: The Walsh-Lynch Co., Brady and Mahoney, Gertie De Milt and the Watson Sisters, and a number of others. Friday is amateur's night, and there is always lots of fun on tap.

FOLLY (John A Fennessey, mgr.)—The Colonial Belles did a fine week's business, with De Hollis and Valora heading the olio, and making a great hit. The Yankee Doodle Girls, in "At the Springs," and another burlesque, come 15, with Harry Seyon, James Hazleton, Harry Hearn, Sam Hawley, Chas. Collins and Will H. Davis in leading comedy roles. In the olio are: The Grotesque Randolphs, the Seyons, Collins and Hawley, the Gladstone Sisters, Davis and Hazleton, and Sadie Huested. The Dreamland Burlesquers 22.

TROCADERO (I. M. Weingarten, mgr.)—The Trans-Atlantics did very well this week, and pleased. The Rose Hill Co., with George W. Rice, comes 15, in "The Knights of the Red Garter," and the star has a fine company to support him. In the olio are to be found: Blanche Newcombe, Idylla Vyner, Henrietta Wheeler, Mlle. Beatrice, Flossie Gaylor, Henrietta St. Felix and the York Sisters, John E. Cain and company, the Four Londons, Andy McLeod and Billy Chase. The Dainty Duchess 22.

EMPIRE (I. Herk, mgr.)—Uncle Sam's Belles played to good returns this week. The Strolling Players are to be on deck 15, and come with what is said to be one of the best companies on the road, and a strong olio. Watson's Burlesquers 22.

STAR AND GARTER (U. J. Herrmann, mgr.)—The Bowery Burlesquers have played to the usual huge audiences this week, with a greatly strengthened show. Vanity Fair Burlesquers have the stage week of 15, and have an attraction which will be sure to draw. Irwin's Majesties return 22, after an absence of only a little over two months, but so great was its success last time that a return date was at once booked.

LONDON DIME MUSEUM (W. J. Sweeney, mgr.)—Business keeps up to the standard here, and the attractions have taken on the semblance of a regular Winter bill, with people standing around, waiting for the show to start.

AFTERMATH.

Harry Chappell, "the crowd," sends me a copy of The Gale, the official organ of the W. F. Mann Attractions, from Tuscola, Ill., and in it is much information regarding Mr. Mann's many attractions. Mr. Chappelle is manager of "The Fighting Parson" Co., in which his wife, Sarah Marion, is featured. The company is playing through Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky. The front cover of The Gale is resplendent with pictures of the members of the "Shadowed by Three" Co., of which Harry J. Jackson is manager.

The rumor is again rife that John Cort will build a theatre on Dearborn Street, just around the corner from Randolph Street, and such a building is needed in this locality, for it is to be believed that Mr. Cort will be a purveyor of the better class of attractions, as he always has been in the past. Mr Cort is at present in Seattle, giving his undivided attention to his coast attractions, among which is his successful star, Max Figman.

Walter Horton, the well known leading man, was a caller at this office 12, having just arrived from New York, to rehearse in "The Revelation," which Martin & Emery are putting out, with Mary Shaw in the lead. Mr. Horton has greatly improved in appearance in the past few years, and is working hard on his part, which he says is a very good one. Ralph Stuart is rehearsing the piece.

Lee Kohlmar tells me that he is very well pleased with the prospect which is ahead of him in his starring venture next season, under the management of Martin & Emery, in a new play which is now being written for him, and is sure the play will be a success. He has been a great favorite here, and his many friends will look forward to his stellar venture with great interest.

Walter Stanton and Mary Parkinson, who sailed from here a year ago last Christmas time, for England, write me that they were to sail for Australia Oct. 20, for a six months' engagement in pantomime, under the management of Mr. Williamson, in which Mr. Stanton will be seen as the giant rooster, the animal impersonation which he made famous in this city about three years ago. He appeared in this guise at the Lyceum, London, last year, and was one of the hits of that pantomime.

Frank Beal, stage manager of the People's Theatre, has written an original drama, "Set in Diamonds," which will be presented by the stock company at that house week of Nov. 30, and at the Marlowe the week following.

The National Flower Show, at the Coliseum, has been a very great success, crowds of the ultra-fashionable having attended every night, and this idea will be carried out every year.

It is announced that when "The Mollusc" is given here, the leading role will be played by May Irwin, who will also appear in "Mrs. Peckham's Carouse." Alexandra Carlisle returning to England to take up engagements there.

The Chicago Song Slide Co., which is owned by S. G. Honeck and his brother, R. C. Holeck, has a new branch of the business in the Illinois Film Exchange, a film service company which has offices on the ninth floor of the Masonic Temple.

Herbert Duce, manager of the Garrick Theatre, received a letter this week from London asking him to reserve seats for David Warfield's engagement, this being one of the star long distance orders.

Fire started in a rubbish pile at the Coliseum 8, during the time the crowd was thickest, and for a time it was thought a panic would ensue, but the band struck up a march, and the noise of the engines, which had gathered outside the building, was drowned by the band.

Dee and Noble write me that they will close with the "In Old Arkansaw" Co. 15, as Miss Noble's health is not good, and that they will return to town.

The fact that the receipts of the third week of Walker Whiteside, at the Grand Opera House, were double those of the first week, is responsible for his special return engagements, 15 and 22, those of the first week being $5,100, and of the last week $10,600.

It is seldom that anything more charming is heard than the singing of Florence Holbrook of the song, "The One I Marry," in "A Girl at the Helm." Miss Holbrook's charm of manner is never more in evidence than when she is singing this.

In Andrew Mack's company, when he opens in "Sergeant Devil McCare," at the Auditorium, 29, will be seen Mary Nash, Cecil De Mille, Daniel Gilfeather, Mildred Beverly, Daniel Jarrett and Duann Wagar.

Mort Singer has engaged Countess Olga Von Haitzfeldt for his road company of "A Girl at the Helm," and she is expected to join here very shortly. It is also stated that "A Stubborn Cinderella" will invade the Eastern metropolis about the first of the year, and that Sallie Fisher and John Barrymore, who have been playing the leading roles here for the past six months, will be transferred to this company.

THE MONUMENT AND TOMB to the memory of Mollie Bernard, character actress, who died February 17 last, was recently completed, and the body placed in the permanent sepulchre at Arlington Cemetery, Lansdowne, Pa. The monument, which stands seven feet high, is of Gouverneur marble. On the front and sides are the names of her father, mother, two brothers and sister, who died years ago. On the back of the monument is an inscription to the memory of the departed actress.

P. RICHARDS' LETTER.

A Week of Anniversaries—Messrs. Max Anderson and John Ringling Are Prolonging Their Stay on the Continent—A Bitter Feud Among the German Artist Papers—Latest Developments in the Boycott of the Central Theater in Stettin.

Berlin Bureau, 28 Mittel Strasse.

OCT. 29.

This is a week of anniversaries. Josef Modl, Vienna's most popular humorist, who began his career as a comic singer twenty-five years ago at a charity entertainment in the Hotel Union of that city, and enjoys the distinction of having played for nineteen consecutive years at the Etablissement Ronacher, will celebrate his silver wedding to vaudeville at this most popular resort on Nov. 4.

The limited company of H. B. Marinelli opened their first bureau (in Paris) just ten years ago, and has established offices in Berlin, London and New York since, and increased the number of their employees from two to thirty-four. The business contracted for during this time amounts to six and a half million of dollars. No wonder that there were free cigars for the asking.

Harry Houdini, the famous jailbreaker, kept in line with the rest, and remembered that he made his bow in vaudeville twenty-five years ago, which fact was duly heralded and celebrated at Circus Busch last night.

I had the pleasure of spending two most enjoyable evenings (evenings in Berlin last until 5 A. M.) in the company of Messrs. Anderson and Ringling, who arrived here last week, and were stopping at the Hotel Adlon Unter den Linden. They left yesterday for Vienna, and from there they intend to continue their trip through Hungary and Italy, always on the lookout for novelties. Mr. Ringling admitted to a big list of attractions, which he had booked for the next circus season, while Mr. Anderson was less communicative on that point. But I was in both gentlemen's company when they were led by Messrs Masse and Fischer, of Marinelli's forces, to look over some acts, and saw Mr. Anderson busying himself with his note-book. The inference is that he is providing for novelties for the Hippodrome.

Our distinguished American visitors took advantage of the opportunity to witness the latest ballet at the Imperial Opera House, and happened to be seated in a box adjoining the one of His Majesty. This I mention for the sole purpose of verifying beforehand the statement which they will undoubtedly make on their return to New York—that they have rubbed elbows with the Kaiser.

Furthermore will I mention right here that it is essential to wear a white necktie to your Tuxedo suit when there is a gala night at the Berlin opera, a fact which made our friend, Ike Rose, perform a lightning change act in the lobby of the house, the "props," for which were furnished by an obliging usher at an exorbitant rate.

There is a bitter feud raging just now among the German artists' press, involving Das Program, of Berlin; Der Artist, of Duesseldorf, and Das Organ, of Vienna, the latter two papers taking up the managers' cause, and Das Program voicing the sentiments of the Artisten Loge.

At first it was an even war between Der Artist and Das Program, but lately the official paper of the managers' association, Das Organ, has come to the aid of Der Artist. Das Organ, which is issued semi-weekly, publishes in the last number a resolution of the managers to boycott Das Program, and to favor all performers who employ the advertising columns of Das Organ.

In my last letter to THE CLIPPER I reviewed the different grievances of the performers which led to the strike that involves eight theatres throughout the province of Rheinlanden just at the present.

Conditions at one of them, the Central Hallen, in Stettin, have reached an acute form, inasmuch as the labor unions of that city held a special meeting on Oct. 20, in which they pledged themselves to boycott the above named theatre until the demands of the performers have been complied with. But in all probability hostilities will be ended by the time this letter reaches you. Overtures for peace are being made from both sides. The managers have already issued a new form of contract, in which they omitted the three days' cancellation clause, and if the lege will only consent to an apology for some of the various unkind epitheis used during the heat of the arguments, we will soon have peace again, which is anxiously looked for by every well-wisher of vaudeville.

OUR HAVANA LETTER.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

HAVANA, Nov. 7.

An interesting state of affairs has been brought to light in Havana theatre circles, which only concerns foreign performers and foreign impresarios.

The National Theatre, of Havana, is owned and managed by the Gallego colony of Havana, and is really the ultra-fashionable house of the city. On Sunday evening the Enrique Borras Dramatic Company closed a most successful engagement at this house. Borras is a Catalan from Barcelona, but the Spaniards generally, with the possible exception of the Uiadrilenians, gave the company excellent business. The Spaniards from Madrid were not so hearty in their support, and one newspaper here said some sarcastic things, which were not concurred in by the public generally. The impresarios, or backers of the company, considering that they and the company had been discredited, published a sworn statement showing that the Borras company had in the thirty performances brought $47,966 to the box-office, and that the managers and the theatre managers were so well satisfied that a return engagement was arranged after the company tours Mexico.

Two nights after the Borras company closed at the National, Tina Di Lorenzo and her Italian Dramatic Company opened at the Payret. While there is little rivalry between the companies, the partisans of each were busy, and then the managers of the National and Payret theatres got into a controversy. The result is, that while there is little doing at the National, the partisans of that house are doing everything they can to prevent Tina Di Lorenzo from scoring the triumph she did in her engagement last year.

Added to the work which is being done against the Italian players, the management of the Payret itself is guilty of a short-sighted policy in its treatment of the critics. The day after the opening night, ten of the twelve favored periodicals in this city, sent back to the Payret management the tickets which had been furnished, and there are no notices in the newspapers, good, bad, or indifferent.

While the fight is really being made on Signora Di Lorenzo, the issue is between the two theatres. The National has always displayed a liberal policy, and has been rewarded by the best of business at most times, the only really unfortunate engagement in recent times being last Spring, when the Italian Grand Opera Co. were at the National, and Tina Di Lorenzo made her first trip to Havana. Then the Payret dragged the crowds away from the National, and the grand opera engagement cost the management a pretty penny.

It is alleged that a policy far removed from liberality on the part of the Payret was really the cause for the misfortunes of "The Merry Widow" and Mme. Herrmann this Fall, in this city.

Tina Di Lorenzo will play in Havana all during this month, and the critics and newspapers intend to let the engagement severely alone. Then it will be demonstrated whether or not the press agent is worthy of any consideration at the hands of the managers, and it may also get a bit of revenge for one foreign colony against another.

There are many good old stories told of the grandeur of former days while Spain controlled this island, and while there were no revolutions to worry the authorities. In those days the managers went to Europe during the Summer, and engaged their talent for the Winter.

The manager of the old Tacon, which is now the National, always went for the best that could be had in Madrid, Paris and Milan. All arrangements were made, and the guarantee was fixed. There were no contracts signed, for when that manager promised anything it was considered just as good as if a bonding company had been called in.

After the season's arrangements were all made the expenses were figured up, and the manager took Spanish gold pieces to that amount and filled a box.

During the season all the receipts were placed in another box. The expenses were taken from the first box all the Winter. Then at the close of the season money was taken from the box of receipts and placed in the expense box, until it was as full as it was at the beginning of the season. If there was any left over, that was "velvet." No books were kept, receipts were not listed by the performance, and nothing was known as to the success of the season until the end of the year, when the first box was refilled, and the manager did not have any lawsuits, either.

OUR LONDON LETTER.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

Clipper Bureau, 14 Leicester Street, Leicester Square, London, W. C.

Nov. 7.

At the last minute, Walter De Frece surrendered unconditionally to the demand of the Variety Artists' Federation. He removed from his contracts a clause recently printed on the margin in red ink, empowering him to deduct from salaries payable by his firm, ten per cent., to be divided at discretion with the agent concerned in the engagement. The division meant, of course, that a moiety, not indicated, of the commission deducted, would be retained by the De Frece booking office. Mr. De Frece added the remark that he "gave way under protest." It is indeed the case, that other managements have long employed a clause similar to that objected to in the instance of Mr. De Frece. But he was unfortunate in the moment of its addition to his contracts, and technically he was in the wrong as to his phraseology. It is probable that he was influenced further by the consciousness that the De Frece booking office is a personal business, while the sufferers from the strike would have been stockholders in the De Frece circuit, which is quite a different matter. Indeed, a prominent stockholder telegraphed in emphatic terms, his smypathy with the performers in this quarrel.

Meanwhile the resignation of Monte Bailey, secretary of the Variety Artists' Federation, is announced. His immediate successor is an unknown man, but it is freely stated that his appointment is no more than a stop gap, and that a performer who was especially prominent during the strike and thereafter, will be found in the position of secretary very soon. What the significance of this event is, I do not surmise. It may be a mere casualty. Cries of "graft," and assertions of internecine trouble are sure to be raised. But the recommendation of the Variety Artists' Federation to the loyalty of its members is that it has succeeded in whatsoever it has undertaken.

There has been important activity in managerial circles too, and "amalgamations" are freely spoken of. What the average newspaperman does not seem to understand—and some of the theatrical journalists are conspicuously ignorant—is the difference between an amalgamation and a "booking" agreement, with expansive ligaments. In some of our circuits are halls actually owned, halls in which a partnership has been acquired, halls leased from other corporations, and halls casually rented from obstinately tenacious private holders. When the "amalgamation" of these halls, which would be an operation of difficulty beyond diplomacy, and of supremely intricate finance, is spoken of as though it were a quick-cash sale of so much junk, the experienced smile.

Recent events have quickened Oswald Stoll's desire to form an alliance of proprietors and managers. He laid the scheme aside, chiefly because the discussion brought into play an infinity of jealous reservations on the part of small proprietors, more numerous than many people imagine. Now, the urgent need of combination has induced Oswald Stoll, Walter de Frece and the directors of the halls inaccurately described as the Syndicate halls, but conveniently identified as such, to join hands—not to "amalgamate." They will have lesser allies, but they will have an opponent of immense importance and avowing sympathy with the performer. Walter Gibbons and Thomas Barrasford have brought their halls under the same roof, and will assiduously cultivate the closest possible alliance between their undertakings. The strength of this coalition is not entirely in the personalities of the joint managers. There has lately been a vast infusion of capital into this enterprise—capital provided by George Dance, the theatrical manager, and Sidney Martea, a real estate agent. The unique importance of these men is that when they talk money they are able to dip into their pockets for the argument. They do not trade on paper.

Though he is always protesting that the mission of the stage is educational, Henry Arthur Jones has in his new play sought to be amusing only, and he has succeeded beyond doubt—though the critics do say they never saw so "thin" a plot as that of "Dolly Reforming Herself," which was produced at the Haymarket on Tuesday. Harry Telfer took a number of people, staying at his country house, to a New Year's Eve service at the village church. They come home full of good resolutions. Telfer determined to curb his hot temper and rough tongue. His wife, Dolly, made up her mind that she would cease her ruinous extravagance in dress. Their guest, Mrs. Sturgess, the pretty wife of a solemn old scientist, was fain to confess a weakness for flirtation. A cynical onlooker, Matthew Barron, Dolly Telfer's father, made them all a bet that next New Year's eve would find them in much the same state as anterior to these resolutions. Dolly Telfer thought her self-imposed task of economy so easy that she could spare the time to help Mrs. Sturgess to repress the flirtation habit—and, indeed, succeeded in chasing amorous Captain Wentworth from the scene. This episode of romantic intrigue dealt with, the play proceeds to the relations of Dolly and her husband, and resolved itself into broad farce. Dolly's bills were indeed overwhelming. When she realized the failure of her efforts to reform, she became reckless and defiant. When Telfer realized the magnitude of his wife's prodigality he raved like a madman. With the subsidance of their quarrel, the play ends. It was brilliantly enacted—by Ethel Irving, as Dolly; by Robert Lorraine, as Harry Telfer; by Charles Towne, as Matthew Barron; by Charles Maude, as Captain Wentworth; by Margaret Halstan, as Mrs. Sturgess, and so on. The audience never ceased laughter throughout the performance.

Beerbohm Tree is interesting himself very greatly in a new corporation, called "The Afternoon Theatre." Performances will be given at His Majesty's on afternoons not needed for the attraction current at the theatre, of dramas not of a kind to appeal to the commercially minded manager. The first production will be that of Gerhart Hauptmann's "Hannele."

In an interview, Henry Arthur Jones says: "The American people are keen and enthusiastic playgoers. Their theatres are larger than ours—I do not know that they necessarily hold more people, but they are built on more spacious lines. Naturally, the style of acting suited to a small building is not so effective in a large one, and so you have in America somewhat broader methods employed on the stage. This re-acts on the dramatists also, I think, and when plays and actors are transferred to our smaller theatres, they may be a little out of proportion. I think this is part of the explanation of the lack of success which has attended some American plays produced here. Many of them, at the same time, contained good, strong work.

Elizabeth Andrews is responsible for a short service of performances at Terry's Theatre, of "Le Grand Soir," a play by Leopold Kampf, which has met with great success in Paris. It claims to depict the Nihilism of reality as opposed to the Nihilism of the stage. Vasili, an enthusiast for the cause, concludes that his adoration of Anna, another member of the society, may weaken his strength in the cause. So he decides to commit himself to an enterprise for the furtherance of Nihilism that means certain death. There is a passionate scene between the lovers, and then it is Anna's hand that gives Vasili the signal to act. "Le Grand Soir" is a grim, impressive speech.

When the Lyceum pantomime, "Red Riding Hood" has run its course, "Hamlet" will be revived for the exploitation of Matheson Lang. In the pantomime Julian Rose will play an important part.

When Ruth St. Denis came to this city a year or two ago her success was not remarkable. She proceeded to the continent and made a sensation. But it was London she had in the grip of her imagination. When she returned a while ago the only theatre available was the Scala, from which the playgoer stands aloof, and it looked as though Ruth St. Denis were in for another failure. Then her singular and beautiful art exercised its fascination. The temple-structure of the theatre proved assistant to the effect of her work. The completion of success was recorded on Thursday night, when a number of ladies and gentlemen, influential in London society, organized a gala performance. Midnight the "couvires mingled small and dewy cups," and Ruth St. Denis submitted a new dance to an audience including Herbert Beerbohm Tree, Charles Wyndham, Martin Harvey, and many other celebrities not so specially interesting to CLIPPER readers. It was a delightful and interesting gathering.

"Iolanthe" has not proved acceptable at the Savoy. "The Pirates of Penzance" will accordingly be revived on Dec. 1.

Queen Alexandra and the Queen of Norway were recent attendants at a performance of "The Lyons Mail," by H. B. Irving.

Oscar Asche and his wife, Lily Brayton, have arranged to visit Australia in the Spring of next year.

George Alexander resumes possession of his theatre, the St. James, on Wednesday, and produces Alfred Sutro's new play, "The Builder of the Bridges."

William Farren left $25,000. His fortune goes intact to a daughter not on the stage.

Martin Harvey's revival of "The Only Way" is filling the Adelphi. The young actor seems able to recoup any failure with this popular favorite.

Fay Davis, long absent from our London stage, will play the chorus in Lewis Waller's impending revival of "Henry V." at the Lyric Theatre. The run of "The Duke's Motto" will cease accordingly.

Cicely Hamilton, actress, journalist and political agitator, of whose play, "Diana of Dobson's," we all spoke so nicely, says "Dramatic criticism is the only profession in the world which is best carried on by people who don't know their business."

Lena Ashwell has re-married, this time to Dr. Henry J. F. Simpson. Arthur Playfair's engagement to Beatie Collier, the clever little Empire dancer, is announced. Maud Allan's ankle-sprain is ceasing to trouble her. She hopes to be dancing again, at the Palace, ere this letter reaches you.

Charles Wyndham is now reckoned one of our best after-dinner speakers—if, indeed, he has an equal. He will preside at the annual banquet of the Eccentric Club on Sunday, Nov. 22.

Fred Terry and his wife, Julia Neilson, resume their tenancy of the New Theatre, at Christmas.

John Lawson announces a vaudeville sketch, entitled "Why the Third Floor Back Passed."

It had been agreed that we should see no Fun City at Olympia this year, the corporation which ran the show two years having dissolved. But Charles B. Cochrane, who claims to have originated the show, and who is determined to reap the reward of its inevitable early struggles, has formed a new company. This Winter, accordingly, the main building of Olympia, will be devoted to a skating rink. The Fun City will be concentrated in the enormous Annex.

Imre Kiralfy has daly applied for and obtained a license for the White City, to operate next year. This should set at ease the doubtful and the rumor monger.

To the Coliseum on Monday come the Dunedin Troupe of Cyclists.

Albani, the world famous prima donna, is the newest recruit to our vaudeville stage. She has been captured by Samuel Lloyd for the Pavilion, Glasgow. If she succeeds she proposes to visit other important halls.

Vesta Victoria sails for America on Saturday next.

Ludwig Amann is now off to the continent. He does not re-visit England till 1910. Some of the time intervening he will spend in America.

Lil Hawthorne is making a hit at the London Coliseum this week, with "The Boy Who Stuttered and the Girl Who Lisped."

Cecilia Loftus and Adelina Patti shared the honors at a charity concert, organized by the Catholic Father Bernard Vaughan, at the Albert Hall, on Wednesday.

Hymack, should have opened at the Empire on Monday, but he is suffering from nerve strain, and his doctor peremptorily ordered rest. His great idea is to reach New York well and strong at Christmas.

Reba and Inez, whom you knew better as the Sisters Kauffmann, write me cheerfully from the Odeon Theatre, Winzburg. They were packing for Paris, where they will appear in the impending revue at the Folies Bergeres.

Radford and Valentine are working the Tivoli and outlying hall just now.

Caswell and Arnold were visitors to THE CLIPPER office yesterday. They returned from South Africa on Saturday, a week late, having been detained up country, and so missed the steamer on which all their baggage preceded them. Their immediate work is in France. "Our two months in Africa," said Maud Caswell, "have been perfectly enjoyable. Going over, on board the 'Kenilworth Castle,' I was so fortunate as to carry off two prizes, one for a representation of 'Five O'Clock Tea' at a fancy dress ball, the other for the best embodiment of a work of fiction at a 'book dinner.' I carried out the idea of 'The Three Musketeers.'"

Samuel W. Gomperiz is in town, looking over novelties for his Coney Island season.

Evie Greene told in an interview that she had accepted vaudeville work "just for money." Most actresses of her distinction would have you believe that their object is to "elevate" the music halls.

Alf. Meers spends the earlier half of this month at the Alhambra, Brussels.

Gotch the wrestler, opens at the New Cross Empire on Monday, with his sketch, "All About a Bout." He has been in town a week, and he has employed the interval in very straight talk to Hackenschmidt.

Lole Fuller is now on a tour of the Moss halls with her ballet of light.

Fred Storey, an old Gaiety actor, is appearing at the Coliseum this week in "The Merchant of Venice," more or less ingeniously compressed within the limits of a music hall sketch.

Still the deplorable dissensions of the Payne family occupy the law courts. In respect of the motor car which was smashed when Judge Adney Payne was killed, an insurance company has been called upon to pay $500. Walter Payne, the dead man's son and executor, sought to retain this cash for the estate, in which the widow, Ethel Adney Payne, had no part. But she has successfully maintained a claim that the car, having been presented to her by her husband, the $500 was her right also.

Margaret Parker, the clever little musical comedy girl, who lately took to the exploitation of pathetic sketches in vaudeville, married her leading man, Herbert Harden, last week.

Helen Trix opened at the Oxford on Monday, to stay four weeks. Miss Trix got mixed in her trains at the world-famous Clapham Junction the other day, and had a free ride on an express, for a hundred miles. The railway company thinks her response most ungrateful.

Lewis and Krone have reached town with the Chicago Film Exchange pictures of the Gans-Nelson fight. They gave a private show to a party of sporting experts and newspaper men at the Hotel Cecil, on Wednesday afternoon. Eugene Corry, a stock exchange man, who referees our best boxing matches, voiced the general opinion that these are the best pictures of a pugilistic encounter exhibited here, so far.

Houdini has been away from this country some three years. He appeared at the Oxford Music Hall on Monday, and induced a scene of wild enthusiasm. Houdini has lost none of his facility in showmanship, and cleverly contrived to make the audience believe that there was danger to his life while he should be "hermetically sealed" in his milk-can. It is voted a wonderful trick.

Herbert Hyman, one of the Johannesburg party, arrived in London to-day, on business and pleasure bent.

Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," so popular just now as an inspiration of undraped dancers, has suggested a clever song and dance satire to Ida Rene. It is entitled "A Song of Autumn," and is much admired at the London Pavilion, where Miss Rene always seems to be at her best.

Constantino Bernardi's quick change act was introduced to the Palace programme on Monday, and agreed to be excellent.

COLONIAL VIRGINIA—Historical.

A graphic tracing of famous scenes and incidents connected with the founding of Jamestown and early life in Virginia. Scenes we have all pictured in our minds since school days are made real in this film: The Landing of the Colonists, the Indians Oyster Roast, Arrival of Shipload of Marriageable English Maidens, the First Legislative Assembly, the Burning of Jamestown, the Introduction of Tobacco to Sir Walter Raleigh and to England, and finally a Typical Colonial Ball.
